Work Starts On New South Side School

Work on the $3,147,200 campus-type Newton South Side High School in Oak Hill got under way during the holiday period with the driving of concrete piles. The school will be ready for occupancy in September, 1960.

The general contract is held by the M. S. Kelleher Company, 204 Washington street, Boston.

Architects for the big school are Korslund, LeNormand and Quinn, a firm which has directed the construction of 27 Massachusetts schools, including two in Westwood, three in Randolph, two in Weymouth, two in Scituate, two in Arlington, three in Quincy, two in Norwood, a regional school for Whitman-Hanson, and one each in West Newbury, Groveland and Merrimac.

Fireman Hurt In $5000 Fire In W. Newton

Firefighter George Anderson, 34, suffered hand injuries and was hospitalized in a fire which caused $5000 damage at the home of David P. Manning, 194 Auburn street, West Newton. Anderson, whose home is at 179 Adams avenue, West Newton, returned to duty after treatment at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in a radio set. It swept through the living room on the first floor apartment and had worked its way into the walls when it was checked. The house is owned by Mrs. Frederick K. Bell, second floor occupant.

Burglar Steals $1000 in Rings

Rings valued at $1000 were taken from the home of Mrs. Sidney Green, 1935 Beacon street, Waban, by a house-breaker. Included in the loot was a diamond engagement ring, valued at $600; a diamond wedding ring valued at $400; and a gold ring valued at $25. The rings were taken from a jewel box in a bedroom.

New Political Era Starts On Beacon Hill Next Week

A new political era will begin on Beacon Hill next week.

For the first time in Massachusetts history the Democrats will assume complete control of the operation of the State government and with it total responsibility for the record that is made.

As preparations are made for the start of the 1959 legislative session, the Democrats appear strong and virtually united, the Republicans weak and disorganized, their ranks torn by dissension and dissatisfaction.

The Democrats command so large a majority in both the House and the Senate that any dissident or rebellious party members can be disregarded or curtly told their votes are not needed.

The most striking contrast in the position of the two parties exists in the State Senate where the Democrats for the first time outnumber the Republicans.

Senator John E. Powers, assured of election as the new Senate president with the unanimous support of his fellow Democratic solons, is quietly and efficiently making his plans for the legislative session just ahead. Able, articulate Senator Maurice A. Donahue of Holyoke is to be the Democratic leader. Powers and Donahue are ready to swing smoothly into action when the new legislative year begins.

The Republican minority in the Senate, on the other hand, has been split into two factions by a bitter fight for the post of GOP leader in that body—a struggle which has aroused so much feeling that the chairman of the Republican State Committee in an unprecedented action has intervened in an attempt to restore something resembling party harmony.

Whether GOP State Chairman Daniel E. McLean can achieve even a surface appearance of Republican unity in the Senate remains to be seen. It is certain, however, that neither he nor anyone else will be able to wipe out the deep-rooted and personal animosity which exists between certain of the GOP Senators.

Newton Is Facing Increase Of at Least $3 in Tax Rate

Here We Go Again

Police Officer Is Arraigned As Hit-Run Driver

A Wellesley police officer was arraigned in Newton district court Monday on a charge of driving the automobile which killed Isadore Schultz, 63, of 582 Beacon street, near his home. Wellesley Patrolman Leonard C. Donahue was taken into custody at his home Sunday afternoon by three Newton police officers headed by Lieutenant James W. Corrigan. Lieutenant Corrigan said Donahue admitted to being the operator of the car which struck Schultz.

3 Newton Residents Killed In Holiday Tragedies; One Struck By Hit-Run Driver

Three residents of Newton met death in holiday traffic tragedies—two of them on streets close to their homes; the third, a 4-year-old boy in a car operated by his young mother.

The victims were: Isadore Schultz, 63, whose body was hurled 115 feet by a hit-run driver's automobile, even as his wife, Ethel, stood at the doorway of their home at 582 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, to welcome him home after his day's work.

Thomas E. Jones, 88, 1487 Washington street, Newton, fatally injured as he crossed Washington street, a block from his apartment.

Mark Stanton, 4, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton, 114 Shorecliff road, Newton, who succumbed to injuries received when a car operated by his mother went out of control and hit a tree on Hammond street, Brookline. His mother was also seriously injured but will recover.

Police sought a possible witness to the accident—a man who was driving a car which bore the shield of a Massachusetts police association.

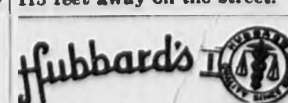

Schultz, long prominent in the garment industry in Boston, was associated with the International Cloak and Suit Co.; Schultz Brothers, Inc., and Park Tissue Mills, had been driven from his Boston office to a point close to his home by Adolph Bassen of Lawrence street, Newton Centre.

As they exchanged "good-nights" and Schultz started to cross the street to his home, Mrs. Schultz saw him from the window. She waved her greeting and went to the front door to admit her husband.

Even before she reached the door there was the sound of a heavy impact on the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Nevins, neighbors of the Schultz couple at 574 Beacon street, heard it. They ran to the front door to investigate.

On their lawn—almost on their front doorsteps was the form of the victim. He was dead. The force with which he had been hit was exemplified by the fact that his shoes were 115 feet away on the street.

Teen-Agers Pay Victim's Medical Costs

Two 18-year-old Brighton boys, convicted of snatching the handbag of a 65-year-old Newton woman and knocking her down when she resisted were ordered to pay $700 from their own earnings to defray her medical expenses.

Victim of the handbag attack was Maude Stevens of 20 Blothedale street, Newtonville. She was allegedly attacked near her home on Nov. 7.

Defendants were John F. Panica, Jr., 18, and Marvin M. Cahane, 18, both of Colborne road, Brighton. They were originally charged with unarmed robbery but before Judge Felix Forte in Middlesex Superior Court, East Cambridge, the charges were reduced to robbery from the person.

Judge Forte sentenced each youth to two years in the House of Correction but suspended the sentence with the proviso the boys pay their victim's medical expenses for injuries suffered in the attack.

Tax Rate of $57 or Over Is Seen for Coming Year

Newton is facing a tax rate increase of at least $3 in 1959, The Graphic learned today.

The 1958 rate was $54. Present indications are that the tax rate during the coming year will climb to $57 and that it might go even higher depending upon factors not yet known. A continued rise in the city's public school costs will be primarily responsible for Newton's tax rate jump.

It is anticipated that the school budget will go up about as much in 1959 as it did in 1958, when it rose approximately $750,000.

Salary increases for teachers, officials and other employees in the school system, which became effective last September, will be in operation for a full 12 months in 1959.

That automatically means that a larger amount must be included in the school department budget to cover salaries for the coming year.

MAJOR LOUIE T. RAWLS

Newton Officer To Staff School

An assistant professor of military science and tactics at Boston University, Major Louie T. Rawls of West Newton, has been selected to attend the Army's Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He is scheduled to report in September.

A 1943 graduate of Clemons College, Major Rawls served with the 24th Infantry Division in Korea before coming to Boston University in 1957. A 15-year veteran of the Army, he holds the Silver Star, Bronze Star with cluster, Army Commendation Ribbon, Purple Heart, Presidential Unit Citation, and the Combat Infantry Badge.

In addition, the School Committee now is considering a further readjustment and upward revision of its salary schedule.

While the largest raises would go to the top personnel in the department, the overall increases would average between $200 and $300 for the approximately 750 school employees, with some, however, getting less than $200 and others more than $300 a year.

A flat $100 pay raise, which went into effect last April 1 for all municipal workers except school employees, also must be paid for a full 12 months in 1959 as against the nine months in 1958.

While Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. has not yet disclosed his budget plans, it is expected that he will recommend some wage hike for police, firefighters and other city employees.

The Mayor last winter proposed a $250-a-year pay boost for the police and firefighters and a raise ranging from $120 to $150 a year for other city workers, the exact amount of the increase depending on the positions they held.

A majority of the members of the Board of Aldermen, however, voted against the Mayor's plan and cut the raise back to a flat $100 a year for everyone outside of the school department.

In view of the Mayor's stand at that time and the subsequent refusal of the Aldermen to go along with his recommendation, it is assumed that he will make another attempt this year to increase the wage schedules for city workers to some degree.

Police Officers To Make Annual Listing in Newton

A corps of police officers on Friday will begin a house-to-house canvass to make their annual listing of all Newton residents who are 20 years of age or older.

In addition, they will compile statistics concerning the number of children under 20 years of age as well as the number of dogs in the city.

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas will have over-all supervision of the listing, and the 10 officers will work under the direction of Lieutenant William Bell.

When the job is completed, Basbas will have not only the list of all Newton residents over 20 years of age as required by law but also unofficial but up-to-date figures on the city's population.

Every resident who has reached his or her 20th birthday must give his name, address, occupation, date of birth, address where he resided on Jan. 1, 1958, and his nationality if he is not an American citizen.

The officers will merely obtain the figures on the number of children at each dwelling they visit, incorporating that information at the bottom of the form when they record the number of males and females of all ages at each address.

In the event no one is at home when the police officer calls, a pink form will be left which the householder will be asked to fill out and mail to City Clerk Monte G. Basbas, City Hall, Newton 59.

Those who fill out the forms themselves and mail them to City Hall are reminded to list the names of all legal residents at that address who have reached their 20th birthday, even if they are away at college or in the armed forces.

He'll Get Two TV Crime Pix At One Time

Two TV sets formed the loot carried away from the home of Frank Engle, 61 Lakeview avenue, Newton Highlands, by a burglar who appeared to be uninterested in anything else. He forced his way into the home by breaking glass near the lock of a storm door at the rear of the house.

Broken Pole Douses Lights

The Albermarle section which prides itself in the beauty of holiday electric decorative effects was in a two-hour blackout the other night.

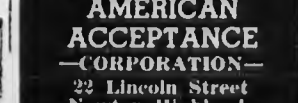

Not only were all the lights out but refrigeration, heat and cooking facilities were suspended for some 200 homes in the area.

The blackout came to the area when an automobile operated by Richard Madden, 22, of Waltham, struck a utility pole on Crafts street and snapped it near the base.

Until Edison emergency crews could make repairs electric power within a quarter-mile area remained dead. Madden was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment of facial injuries.

Tenley Albright May Return To Amateur Ice Competition

Tenley Albright, Newton's great skating star who brought back a gold medal and the women's Olympic skating championship from Cortina, Italy, in 1956, doesn't believe that her competitive ice skating career has ended.

Miss Albright, who quit skating when she entered Harvard Medical School after her Olympic achievements, says she wouldn't be surprised if she's lured back to the ice.

"I think it would take me one week of skating all day, every day, in order for me to be able to do exactly what I wanted to do out there," she declares. Much of her holiday vacation time found her on the ice.

"There are many things I want to try in skating," she says. "I keep hearing music I want to skate to, or I'll see a bright color that would make a wonderful skating dress."

"I still love to skate and that's why I haven't turned professional. If I did, it would take the spontaneity out of skating for me. I'd lose the carefree feeling that is so important to me on the ice," she states.

To Mrs. Nevins he said something about a motorist who had been driving in front of him striking Mr. Schultz.

Before he could be further questioned other neighbors, attracted by the sound of the impact, came running to the scene. Other motorists stopped their cars and went to the lawn.

To the gathering crowd came Mrs. Schultz. She dropped to the lawn and embraced her husband. Doctors were being called and police.

The stranger the Nevins saw pulled out from the crowd, got in his car and drove swiftly away.

Police were at the scene quickly. They ordered road blocks set up in both Newton and Boston.

Mrs. Schultz became hysterical, and she was taken to her home where a physician placed her under sedatives.

On the street outside her home Sergeant Richard Duffy made a search of the road surface but was unable to find any fragments of windshield glass or metal parts.

Dr. Peter Angelo, medical examiner, Waltham, said Mr. Schultz' death was due to multiple injuries. The body was removed to Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Police said the automobile operator wanted for questioning as a possible witness was driving a late model station wagon, colored cream or white. The first two digits of a five-number plate appeared to be "36". A sticker in the back window appeared to be that of a Massachusetts police association.

Mr. Schultz leaves his wife, two sons, David and Allen of Scarsdale, N. Y., a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Handler of Newton; two brothers, Max of Sharon and James of Hull, and two sisters, Betty of Boston and Mrs. Frances Resh of Providence.

Funeral services were held at the Levine Chapel, Harvard street, Brookline.

Four-year-old Mark Stanton was fatally injured while he rode in the front seat of an automobile operated by his mother on Hammond street, Brookline. The car went out of control and crashed into a tree.

The boy was taken to Children's Medical Centre. His father is an intern at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. His grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Stanton, is a resident of Newton.

Thomas Jones was a retired letter carrier. He was struck by an automobile operated by William G. Rooney, 40, of Cohasset, on Washington street near No. 1467. He was taken to the hospital by Patrolmen Anthony J. Grella and John J. Murphy.

He was born in Newton and retired from the postal service after 40 years of employment in 1935. He was the oldest living member of the Clavin Guards, Company C of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, which he joined in the 1880's. He was a former supervisor of the Boston postoffice.

Besides his wife, Johanna C., he leaves two daughters, Sister Madeline Paula of the Sisters of Charity, Brooklyn, and Miss Margaret V. Logan of Waltham; five sons, C. Leo of Brookline, a teller in the Federal Reserve Bank of Bos-

Jan. 1, 1959

On January 1, 1900, Americans enjoyed an especially happy New Year's Day. That year Jan. 1 marked the dawn of a new century. It was called the 20th and the wise men of the time predicted it would be the greatest era in history.

There was peace in the world. The U.S. had shown its right to a top place among the military powers by bringing a successful end to the Spanish War.

Stolid William McKinley eyed with confidence the chances of his re-election to a second term in office when November rolled around. Drs. Walter Reed, Aristides Agramonte, Jesse Lazear and James Carroll were initiating their plans to wipe out a man-killer named yellow fever.

Railroads which had pushed their way into the far reaches of the country to offer deep roots to future metropolitan centres were making money almost too fast to count.

Truly the dawn of the 20th Century was a cause for rejoicing.

The good folks of 1900 were right in appraising it the greatest mankind had known. Indeed, as one decade followed another, piling one wondrous accomplishment on another, it became quickly apparent that their expectations were truly modest.

For in 1900 they could not foresee the amazing advances electric power was to make in serving man. They could not see the tremendous advances the science of medicine was to make. Nor could they know that the silly fangled horse-less carriage was here to stay and the day would come when Dobbins would be superseded in supplying motive power for transportation.

As the toasts were offered on the stroke of midnight, Dec. 31, 1899, they could not know that huge flying machines would be carrying people from one part of the world to another in a matter of hours and minutes.

Folks expected a lot from the 20th Century, back on Jan. 1, 1900.

They got a lot.

The brave new world that day ushered in wasn't a world of everlasting joy and satisfaction, however.

Long before the 20th Century reached the half way mark of its existence, it was to know many a calamitous year and many a year of fear and even slavery for thousands of its peoples.

On a June day in 1914 Gavrillo Prinzip, an obscure Bosnian Serb assassinated Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg at a place called Sarajevo.

Most Americans had never heard of Ferdinand or of Sarajevo. They speculated good naturedly about what those "crazy foreigners" would do next. Here in Boston a few months later, a ball team called the Braves held the attention of all New England.

Yet, even as the Braves battled their way from last place to a pennant and then hamstrung the haughty Philadelphia Athletics in the World Series, the blaze that was started in Sarajevo was burning across Europe. World War I was on.

Before it ended 8,500,000 men, women and children had been killed; 21,200,000 had been wounded and 7,750,000 made prisoners.

Then came the 20s. Men lit their cigars with dollar bills as they celebrated prosperity in dives the law of the land held to be illegal. "Maybe it can't last forever," they told each other "but let's enjoy it."

It didn't last forever. The worst depression of all time was the hangover legacy of the 20s. Men who thought nothing of spending a few hundred dollars on "a-night-out" found they couldn't sell apples on Broadway corners.

World War II came along to end the depression. It ended it sharply and unmistakably. Before exhausted nations put away their instruments of death, the world toted up a horrible toll.

For Americans alone the casualties numbered more than 1,000,000.

Again an exhausted world turned to seek its elusive hard-won peace. Again peace eluded its grasp. A strange philosophy, which denied God, placed life-and-death powers in the hands of a comparatively few men in Moscow and Peiping. Millions of humans were enslaved behind curtains euphemistically called Iron and Bamboo.

The United States and the western world found their own freedoms menaced. Mighty weapons of World War II were cast aside. In their place the mighty powers of the earth sought new weapons—weapons which could wipe out whole cities and all the life they contained.

Man-made satellites explored the heavens. Scientists worked feverishly to produce weapons which could kill thousands of persons thousands of miles away, merely by the push of a button.

On Jan. 1, 1959, we live in a wiser world, perhaps. The most modest kitchen boasts appliances which would have been considered miracles back on Jan. 1, 1900.

Are we truly wiser? Are we truly better off?

Locked in the years ahead are the answers.

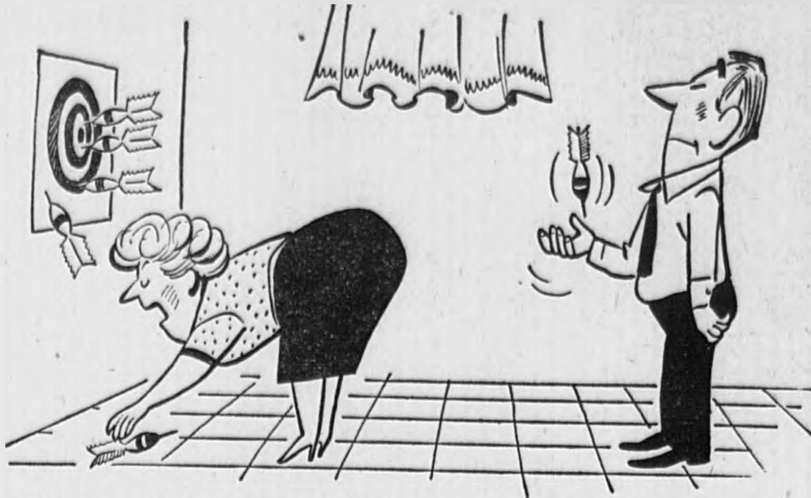

Yet, man devoid of hope is as nothing. On Jan. 1, 1959, he looks forward with hope—to the decades stretching out ahead.

That's why he says Happy New Year.

He means it, too.

He can be certain of one thing.

The days of the 20th Century yet to come will be the most momentous days man has ever known.

"You do... and you can kiss your bowling night goodbye forever!"

Political Highlights

serve as Republican leader in the upper legislative chamber are retiring Senate President Newland H. Holmes of Weymouth and hard-hitting, outspoken Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton.

Their feud goes back two years when Graham had the support of a majority of his fellow Republicans for the Senate presidency, but Holmes defeated him for that position as 16 Democratic Senators joined five Republicans in backing him.

So strong is the feeling between Graham and Holmes that there are rumblings at the State House that the GOP Senators may finally turn to Senator Fred C. Lamson of Malden as a compromise choice and elect him as their leader.

A greater degree of Republican harmony exists in the House where Representative Frank S. Giles of Methuen is assured of reelection as GOP leader and top spokesman.

A number of Republican Representatives, however, make no secret of the fact that they are dissatisfied with the caliber of leadership Giles gave them last year. They will make no fight to replace him because Giles has the votes to beat back any threat against him.

But the Republican minority in the House is not likely to be as united or as effective a force as it was under former House Leader Charles Gibbons during the Dever administration.

Some Democratic resentment also exists against Speaker John F. Thompson of Ludlow, but if there is any opposition to Thompson's reelection as the presiding officer of the House it will be only of the token variety.

Thompson, one of Governor Furcolo's top lieutenants and with a great patronage power at his disposal, has overwhelming backing and is in a position to be unconcerned if a handful of Democrats line up against him.

The feeling against Thompson stems from the iron-fisted and at times even ruthless tactics he periodically employed during the 1958 legislative session.

Thompson, of course, was put into the Speakership by Governor Furcolo to get bills passed, and he does exactly that. He doesn't hesitate to use steamroller tactics when he considers them necessary.

Democratic legislators who happen to disagree with a measure which Thompson is pushing through are brushed aside just as readily as are Republicans.

Some of them have been miffed at the treatment they have received under these circumstances. Because of the big working majority Thompson will have in the House, however, they will not be in a position to do much to vent their indignation.

As the new year progresses on Beacon Hill, observers will find out an interesting contrast in the methods used by Senate President Powers and Speaker Thompson to run the respective legislative bodies they will head.

Where Thompson at times undoubtedly will draw charges of acting like a would-be dictator, Powers can be expected to preside over the Senate with scrupulous fairness.

During the last legislative session Thompson thought nothing of ignoring a quarrelsome Republican legislator who was seeking the microphone to prolong some argument. Thompson would merely pretend he didn't see or hear the person who was striving for recognition.

Powers can be just as stern and exacting a taskmaster as Thompson, but he would never deny an opponent or critic the right to speak his piece. Powers might be icy in his treatment of a Senate adversary, but he would be courteously icy.

Thompson in all likelihood would try to push through anything Governor Furcolo wanted. He operates on the boss-can-do-no-wrong theory. Powers, while supporting the Governor's policies, would not hesitate to speak out if he disagreed with something that was being done.

And the biggest difference will be that Powers will not try to rule the Senate with a political bull whip.

The coming legislative session will be a critical one—critical for the people of Massachusetts and critical for the Democratic party which in November, 1960, will have to stand or fall on what happens on Beacon Hill during the months ahead.

Chiseling Is Encouraged By New Unemployment Law

During the gubernatorial campaign last fall a great deal of debate and discussion centered on the industrial climate in Massachusetts and on laws which have been passed that make it difficult for business plants to operate in this State and by so doing jeopardize the jobs and employment opportunities of thousands of workers.

Many persons who listened to the charges and counter-charges and to the pledges of candidates to work for the improvement of the industrial climate wondered at times just what kind of harmful laws caused all the fuss.

General Counsel Jarvis Hunt of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts is now pointing his finger at one law, which promises to make it more difficult for business and industrial plants to operate in Massachusetts, and is asking Democratic and Republican legislators to make good on their pledge and repeal the statute.

In the closing stages of the 1958 legislative session a bill was passed by the two branches of the State Legislature and signed by Governor Furcolo which makes it possible for a person who voluntarily quits his job to obtain unemployment compensation.

That obviously is a law which encourages malingering by making it possible for a man, who feels like property in Newton during the past four years has softened the impact of rising costs of local government, and especially higher school expenditures, upon Newton's tax rate.

See Tax Rise-

In each of the last four years the amount of taxable property in the city has mounted between $7 and $8 million. The tax revenue from that new property helped to meet the increase in expense.

The erection of new property in the city, however, has reached its peak and is now on the decline. The property valuation added to the tax rolls in 1959 probably will not exceed $3.5 million.

Aside from the increase in expenditures and the leveling-off of the valuation of taxable property, the city also has been confronted with other unfavorable developments.

It lost $8700 a year in revenue from taxes through the takings of the MTA.

In addition, it was deprived of a potential industrial development which might have poured tax money into the city treasury when the MTA took a large tract of land at Riverside for its terminal and a parking area.

Those are all problems which are confronting Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., who already is working to keep the 1959 tax rate as low as possible but who is faced with a set of factors which make an increase in the rate inevitable.

Newton Women Seek Wardrobe Contest Prizes

Local clubwomen are participating in the second annual wardrobe contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington, according to Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner, art chairman of the Auburndale Woman's Club.

The contest is designed to bring out the "Ideal Costume for the Clubwoman's Wardrobe."

Local contestants include Mrs. Gordon Johnson, Mrs. Harry Higgins, Mrs. Mae Ma-thene, Mrs. William Rauha, Mrs. William McCarron, Mrs. G. A. Renaccio and Mrs. L. A. Faulkner.

Choice of the winning wardrobe will be on a basis of versatility and appropriateness for club occasions, over-all fashion effect, becomingness to wearer, and workmanship.

Selection of the winning outfit on the local level will bring the successful candidate a one-year's subscription to a pattern book. Local winners will then move up to a district level competition and thence to the State level. Cash awards of $100 and $50 will be given to the top two State winners.

In the final nation-wide competition the top prize will be a three-week trip to Paris and London for two people, with cash awards of $500 and $250 going to the second and third place winners. First and second place winners will also receive trips to the 1959 General Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Los Angeles. Special awards will be made to the clubs represented by the winners and to the State federations with the highest percentage and highest number of member clubs participating in the nation-wide contest.

Students Elected

Two Newtonville boys were recently elected to student offices for the winter term at The Fessenden School, West Newton. They are William Funk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Funk, 648 Watertown street, who was chosen secretary of the Reds; and John Locke, son of Prof. and Mrs. William M. Locke, 25 Berkshire road, who was elected treasurer of the III Form.

Junior College Opens 2-Yr. Nursing Class in September

The State Approving Authority for Schools of Nursing has given its approval to the establishment of a two-year nursing school at Newton Junior College.

It is expected that the school, which will offer the first two-year nursing course in New England, will get under way in the fall of 1959 with a registration of 50 student nurses.

Announcement of the OK of the State agency was made at the United Community Services. The UCS played a major role in getting plans for the school under way.

The pioneer school will help to cut the shortage of nurses in the Greater Boston area and serve to relieve patients generally of paying for nursing schools.

Students at the NJC school will pay a tuition of $500 per year. Eventually, it is expected the school will pay its own way but helping to get it started will be a grant of $10,000 from the U. S. Public Health Service.

At the completion of their studies aspirant nurses will receive their certificates as registered nurses from the State, just as nurses in three, and four-year nursing schools. The NJC course can be completed in two years because there will be more teaching classes and less actual ward work for the students.

Under the curriculum of the school, students will devote two-thirds of their study to nursing subjects and one-third to a liberal arts course. Upon graduation, they will have an associate in arts degree and will be able to continue their liberal arts studies further to obtain bachelor degrees if they so desire.

Authorities say that a study of the 40 two-year nursing schools in parts of the country outside New England show that the girls make better nurses when they take a fuller education rather than one limited strictly to nursing.

The NJC will work in conjunction with five nearby hospitals, the Symmes-Arlington, in Arlington; the Emerson in Concord; the Charles Choate in Woburn; the Winchester and the Waltham Hospitals.

In selecting applicants, preference will be given to candidates from areas served by these hospitals. Four of the five hospitals once had nursing schools of their own but were obliged to discontinue them.

Aid for Gay Yule Goes To 340 Families

A number of Red Feather agencies submitted names of needy families for the gifts.

Mrs. John L. Snider, 15 Blackstone terrace, was chairman of the Christmas service committee, and Miss Constance S. Garbutt, executive director of the Community Council, acted as treasurer.

Tigers Lose 7 Grid Regulars From '58 Squad

Newton High School will suffer the loss of gridiron stars like Pete Thompson, Captain Buddy Russo, Vern Rollins, Tom Martin, John Impeduglia, Carl Lombardo and Don LaToma when graduation time rolls around next June.
That's quite a reduction from the squad which won five and lost four during the past season.
Yet, Bud Hawkes isn't reaching for any crying towel. Even with only five first-string men due to return in September — Tackle George Wallace, End Ed Flowers, Backs Dick Paaso, Dave Rand and Dave Connor — he doesn't figure the Tigers to be any weak push-over during the 1959 season.
That's because he'll have on hand a strong representation from the second team ready to cash in on their experience next fall. Likely starters in 1959 from the '58 reserve list will be End Lars Bjork, Tackle

Ben Walen, Guards Bill Southmayd and Bill Sellers, Center Fred Santucci, and Backs Tom Lavelly and Ralph Guzzetti.
Tony Lavelly looks like Buddy Russo's successor for the QB portfolio. He got into some games during mid-season and showed plenty of ball-handling and play-calling ability. Tony stands 6'2" and weighs 175 pounds. He would have obtained much more experience last year if he hadn't been sidelined by pneumonia near the season's end.
However, Hawkes believes he's about ready to take over as a regular.

Through the Legislature, the students actually have the opportunity to voice their opinions. The Legislature initiates legislation to be considered by the Associates Council.

A student problems committee which consists of Mr. Rogers, the three building supervisors, Mr. Mitchell, the head of the guidance department, three appointed teachers, and the guidance counselor of the student who is being discussed, analyzes serious disciplinary cases in the school. All the problems are very carefully considered by the people involved and solutions are recommended to Mr. Howe. No action can be taken without Mr. Howe's approval.

Suspension from school, transfer to a small school, and many other alternatives are viewed by the committee in relation to the fundamental ideas that NHS must make an educational atmosphere, and that the student must be protected. Several matters are brought to the attention of this group each year.

An important meeting of the Civics Committee was held last week. The group discussed such problems as smoking outside and inside of school, walking across the lawns, the actual authority and power of the committee, and the possibility of settling up a student court. No actual solutions were reached. Another meeting will be held soon and any decisions that are made will probably serve as a basis for the actions of this and future Civics Committees.

JOTS AND DASHES . . . Connie Worthen and Tom Martin were Senior Standouts in last week's "Newtonite," Nancy Doherty was the Sports Standout.

Earlier this month, Judy Bedrick and Ed Bayard, Assignment and Production editors, respectively, of the Newtonite, attended the Harvard Crimson's Annual Conference on Scholastic Journalism at Harvard University. Judy stayed at a Radcliffe dorm, and Ed at a Harvard one, as the session lasted from Friday until Saturday. The editors discussed the Newtonite with an editor of the Crimson who had previously examined Newton High's paper. Friday evening was spent watching a college paper being "made-up." The students found many ways in which our own paper could be improved through these experiences.

Judy and Ed also heard Nieman Fellows, Dean John Munro of Harvard, and several other people speak on the subject of journalism. In addition, they participated in conference groups led by the editors of the Harvard paper. The two Newton High students represented our school along with 40 other high school editors from this state and New York.

AFTER-CLASS . . . Re-elected for his second year as president of the Debating Club was Fred Jarrett. The other officers are Carol Chandler, vice-president; Mark Ralsman, secretary; and Walter Angoff, treasurer. The organization holds discussions and debates among its own members and with students from other schools. Membership is open to all students on a competitive basis.

Last month several students ushered for the Community Concert which was held at Newton High School. Helping that day were Nathan Custer, Steven Berman, Steven Roser, Steve Kaufman, Carol Chandler, Ronney Cohen, Man-

Last Thursday, the periods were changed around a little and X-Block was the first, rather than the second period of the day. During this time the sophomores had an opportunity to watch a special Christmas program. The program was a repeat of Christmas Vespers which was held on Sunday, Dec. 14. The orchestra played Chanukah and Christmas music. Members of the girls' chorus and A Capella Choir sang to the orchestra's music, and there were several soloists.

The American Field Service Weekend was such a tremendous success this year that there will be a repeat performance. On December 29 and 30 during the Christmas vacation, all AFS students who visited Newton High students for the fall weekend will return for a second meeting. Several activities have been planned for those days.

The Selection Committee which is composed of Miss Burdon, former head of the French department; Mrs. Swanton, chairman of the Newton Committee of American Field Service; and many students, is now interviewing students who have applied for the AFS exchange this summer.

The chosen student will live with a family abroad for two months. The final screening occurs in New York, at the AFS headquarters. It is there that the Selection Committee sends four names of students. These students are selected on their interviews, applications, and recommendations. One or two will finally be decided upon in New York.

Community Council Backs Youth Advisory Committee

Backing of the newly organized Newton Youth Advisory Committee was given by the Newton Community Council Governing Board at its recent meeting at the Jackson Homestead, Harry L. Walen, Council President announced.

The proposal that the Council lend its support to this group was presented by A. Raymond Rogers, Jr., Assistant Principal of the Newton High School who is serving as temporary chairman.

Concern over the problems of increasing juvenile delinquency, including the growing number of juvenile offenders, and the seriousness of the crimes committed along with the lack of any coordinated approach among agencies and other services which are dealing with these problems has crystallized the need for a committee in Newton.

John Powers, Assistant District Attorney for Middlesex County, introduced by Rogers, presented information which indicated the need for such committees in Middlesex County.

Robert H. Mitchell, member of the Community Council Governing Board, was named as the Council delegate to this Youth Advisory Committee. Also serving on the Advisory Committee are H. L. Walen, President and Miss Constance

Women's Club To Meet

"Baghdad, the Magic Carpet of Iraq" is the title of a talk to be delivered by Mrs. Jawab All at the home of Mrs. David A. Bergmark, 119 Hancock street on Friday, Jan. 9, at 2 p.m. The lecture has been arranged by the Literature and International Affairs Committee of the Auburndale Women's Club.

S. Garbutt, Executive Director of the Newton Community Chest and Council.

Other matters reported at the meeting were progress on the Homemaker Committee, chaired by Mrs. Raymond W. Blaisdell and the Home Medical Care Committee with Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst as chairman.

A brief report was also given on the work of the Christmas Service Committee which this year assisted more than 350 families referred by a number of health and welfare agencies, through the generosity of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, various P.T.A.'s, individuals and other groups. A clearing service for church groups, service clubs and other similar groups who give help at Christmas time was also provided for the purpose of clearing names of individuals and families to avoid duplication.

Police Probing Kidnap Attempt

Police are seeking a husky, 30-year-old man who attempted to kidnap Miss Marge Kerivan, 29, of 103 Floral street, Newton Highlands, on Christmas morning in Cambridge.

Miss Kerivan was being driven home from a party by a friend, Daniel O'Connell of Cambridge, when he stopped at his home to pick up some Christmas presents. Miss Kerivan sat in the car to wait.

As she sat alone, a man got into the car on the driver's seat side, appeared ready to start the car when Miss Kerivan objected. "Keep quiet and you won't get hurt," said the stranger.

Just as the car started the Newton Highlands woman jumped out and ran into the O'Connell house.

The car was found abandoned a block away.

George Hicks New Alderman

George Hicks of 5 Fairfield road, Newtonville, was elected as the new Alderman from Ward 2 at Monday night's meeting of the Aldermanic Board. Hicks, who will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former Alderman Stuart M. Spaulding, is the retail advertising manager for a Boston newspaper.

Finds Burglar In Her Cellar

When Mrs. Samuel Louie went to the cellar of her home, 37 Dwindle road, Waban, shortly after midnight to check the heater, she found she had an unwelcome visitor in the house. The visitor was a young man who ducked behind the furnace when she appeared and then darted to the street through a bulkhead door. Police found his footprints outside, but no other trace. They surmised that he had planned to wait in the cellar until the family had gone to sleep before going upstairs to seek out something to steal.

Governor Furcolo Is Facing Record Number Of Problems

As he starts his second term on Beacon Hill, Foster Furcolo is in the most powerful and, at the same time, the most difficult position of any Democratic Governor in the modern history of Massachusetts. No Democratic Governor back through the sweep of the years had the same power Furcolo now possesses to place new laws on the statute books of the Commonwealth—laws which could affect the every-day lives of every person across the State. And no Governor, Democrat or Republican, ever was confronted with problems as monumental and staggering as those which now face Furcolo. Whether Furcolo can meet those problems, do the things which must be done, enact the painful laws which must be adopted and survive politically after doing so, is a question which will be answered only by time and events still to come in the misty reaches of the future. The late Paul A. Dever, when he started his first gubernatorial term just 10 years ago, had the greatest power of any Democratic Governor up to that time. But Dever's power was lesser and his responsibility lighter than that of Furcolo. Dever's problems were minor by contrast with those which sit like great roadblocks astride the political path Furcolo is traveling toward—he hopes—a seat in the U. S. Senate. Dever in 1949 had a House which was Democratic, but not by as big a margin as the one over which John F. Thompson will preside this year. In the Senate a decade ago, the Democrats and Republicans were evenly split, with the GOP able to block anything on which it could command a solid vote. Furcolo has a House and Senate which, theoretically at least, should be completely responsive to him. Psychologically, he can't afford to suffer a single setback. While Furcolo has more power to wield and more

Newton Crash Halts Street Car Service

Morning rush hour street car traffic on the Newton-Brighton Watertown line was held up for nearly an hour when a truck, in a collision with an automobile, was tipped over on the tracks at Tremont street and Waverly avenue, Newton. No serious injuries were reported, although the drivers of the two vehicles were severely shaken up and taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Street cars caught by the road block were backed up as far as Watertown square before the truck could be removed and traffic untangled. The truck was operated by Paul Mahoney of Brighton. Leonard Mulsman of Winthrop drove the automobile. The fire department was called to wash gasoline off the street, and a city crane also was summoned to right the truck. Inbound street car traffic was held up 50 minutes, while outbound cars were delayed for about 20 minutes.

These are but a few of the features and the highlights you will find in the copy of "Suburbia Today" which is included in this newspaper.

Wins Baby Derby

Fireman's 6th Child Is First '59 Arrival

It's a boy! And he arrived at 3:04 p.m. New Year's Day at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital to win the 1959 edition of the Newton Graphic Baby Derby. The New Year was still only hours old and the clamor and confusion had barely subsided when the little stranger bowed in. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward York of 231 Auburn street, Auburndale, had been so busy caring for his four older sisters and one older brother that they failed to select a name for him in advance.

After some deliberation, the newcomer was named Stephen York. Stephen's arrival on New Year's day at 3:04 p.m. made him the first baby of 1959 born to a Newton couple reported before the Monday night deadline for the contest. Although the Yorks were busy, Newton's progressive merchants were not too involved in the Christmas rush to take time out and plan a gala reception for the new baby. They will present a variety of gifts for his own use as well as for his parents. The baby's father is a fireman assigned to Headquarters Fire Alarm System and his mother is the former Eleanor

Girl Scouts Seek Books

A group of determined Cabot neighborhood Girl Scouts have fond hopes that the Cabot School will soon boast a new library. The girls have been spending their vacation in a door to door solicitation for books suitable for grades one through six. Last week some 50 Girl Scouts distributed flyers describing their plan throughout the neighborhood, and are making personal calls on the neighbors.

The Girl Scouts feel that school libraries are desirable because they provide source books and supplemental material for program enrichment in the classrooms at the time they are needed. The schools provide the room and the furniture, but obtaining the books is a community project.

Intermediate Scouts of Troops 180, 116 and 109 volunteered to plan and carry out their book drive as a regular project.

W. Newton Fire Damage Is $3500

Fire caused $3500 in damage to the home of Thomas L. Matthews at 238 River street, West Newton.

The fire, believed to have started in a waste basket near the cellar door, was discovered by a passerby. The blaze spread to the cellar ceiling before it was halted. Smoke damage resulted to the rest of the 2½-story frame dwelling.

High Winds Topple Tree, Pulling Down Power Lines

Several hundred Newton homes were left without heat on the coldest night of the winter when high winds sent a tree toppling onto utility wires Monday night. Not only were the dwellings left heatless as a result of the power failure, but they also were plunged into darkness, and telephone service was disrupted. While the chill, biting winds raged outside, occupants of approximately 300 houses affected endeavored to keep warm with blankets and overcoats. Power was restored within an hour at some homes, but at others the blackout lasted for almost three hours.

The tree blown down by the strong winds fell onto the property of Dr. Joseph P. Lynch at 363 Waverley avenue. The wires knocked down by the falling tree caused an electric transformer on Kenrick street to go out of commission, with a resulting loss of electricity to all homes within a radius of a half mile.

That not only threw the area into darkness but also caused most furnaces and heating units to cease functioning on a bitter cold night.

Emergency crews were rushed to the section by the Edison and Telephone companies.

Aside from the inconvenience and discomfort caused by the blackout and loss of power, hundreds of residents in various sections of Newton reported that they were unable to start their automobiles yesterday or Tuesday mornings. In some homes pipes burst during the winter's most severe cold snap.

About the only beneficiaries of the spell of arctic weather were the public transit lines which reported increased patronage due to the inability of many car-owners to get their machines rolling.

Old Classmates Meet Here After 61 Years

Two of the few surviving members of the Class of 1897 at the University of Toronto, one a well-known Newton resident, the other from Ontario, enjoyed a reunion in this city on Saturday, their first meeting since graduation from the Canadian college.

The Rev. William E. Gilroy, of 46 Morton Street, Newton Centre, and Fred G. Millar, of Oliphant, Ontario, the two classmates, participated in the enjoyable meeting at the Morton Street home.

In a recent surprise letter, the Canadian wrote the Newtonite that he was flying to Rochester with a brief stopover at the Boston Airport. He suggested a meeting in Boston.

Confined to his home by an illness in the family, Mr. Gilroy found it impossible to make the trip to Boston. However, a further surprise was in store for the Newton resident when he answered the doorbell on Saturday and found his old classmate had taxied from the airport in order to pay him a brief visit.

The two classmates, at different times, had lived and worked in Ontario communities, and in addition to reminiscences of college days and associations, enjoyed much talk of mutual interests and friends. Both are former presidents of the Hamilton Scientific Association, a long-established

Wellesley Officer Faces Court in Hit-Run Death

Patrolman Leonard C. Donahue, 38, of the Wellesley police department will appear before Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court today (Thursday) on charges growing out of the hit-run death of Isadore Schultz on Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, the day after Christmas.

The officer, suspended from duty pending the outcome of the case, has pleaded not guilty to all of the charges.

He will be given a hearing on complaints which allege manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident and driving to endanger.

Schultz, an industrialist and textile executive with offices in Boston, was killed after he had alighted from a car in front of his home at 582 Beacon street. The car had been driven by a friend who had taken the Chestnut Hill man home from his Boston office.

As he crossed the street to enter his house, a car struck him and hurled his body a distance of 115 feet.

Police quickly on the scene, found witnesses who described the car which struck him as a station wagon. Police were also informed that a window of the car had a sticker of a Massachusetts police organization.

After hours of careful work on the part of Newton police officers and inspectors of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Donahue was questioned and then placed under arrest.

In their investigation the officers and inspectors examined 3000 records of automobile registrations.

The arresting officers allege that Donahue admitted being at the driver's wheel of the car which killed Schultz. They said that he could not explain why he left the scene of the accident.

The accused officer is a 10-year veteran of the Wellesley police department.

He was arrested about 48 hours after the accident. When he was arraigned before Judge Mayberry he entered not guilty pleas and was ordered held in $5000 bail for today's hearing.

winner from the nominations made. Nomination blanks may be obtained from the Jaycee chairman, Warren C. Sylvester, at 115 Dickerman road in Newton Highlands, and must be returned by Jan. 13.

The local winner will be entered in the Massachusetts Jaycee contest, which chooses several of the outstanding young men of the state. Those winners will in turn be entered in the national competition to determine the nation's 10 outstanding young men.

Local winners in previous years have been Franklin Flaschner, Carleton Merrill, John Baldwin and Millard partment, a complete sea food department, and a florist shop. A "store within a store" is the "5 and 10," with thousands of items at low prices.

Political Highlights

strings to pull, he also has heavier responsibilities than Dever did, and more is expected of him. Because of the unprecedented control the Democrats now exercise on Beacon Hill, there is a disposition on the part of some people to expect the Governor to produce miracles.

It will be something of a miracle if Furcolo can overcome the massive problems staring him in the face.

The most troublesome problem confronting Paul Dever when he first donned the gubernatorial mantle was the MTA and what to do about its deficit which was mounting to proportions then considered startling and shocking.

Actually, the MTA is a bigger problem today than it was 10 years ago. Its fares are higher, its deficit greater, its service poorer. But it rates pretty far down on Furcolo's list of headaches if, indeed, he even bothers to put it on his list.

Governor Furcolo has to raise so much additional money from new sources that most legislators shudder when the amount is even mentioned.

A 3 percent limited sales tax, which two years ago was proposed as the solution to the problems confronting the cities and towns as well as the Commonwealth, would not by itself yield enough money to balance the State budget this year. It would only be a starter. The withholding tax system, if adopted, would help momentarily. But between them they wouldn't produce anywhere near what is now said to be needed.

If Furcolo follows the established political strategy, which he very rarely does, he will endeavor to feed the people all the bad medicine in the form of new taxes this year, so that they will have as much time as possible to recover from the shock before the 1960 election.

Entirely apart from the Democratic majorities in both branches of the Legislature, Governor Furcolo is much stronger today than he was two years ago at the start of his first term.

His prestige is higher as a result of his reelection. He has two years of experience on Beacon Hill behind him.

The experiment of attempting to operate without a chief secretary has been abandoned, and his office now is skillfully directed by former Suffolk County Assistant District Attorney Daniel J. O'Connell, Jr., an extremely able executive, who has been able to spare the Governor many of the headaches and woes which plagued him when he first assumed office.

Governor Furcolo should be able to accomplish a very high percentage of the things he attempts to do this year.

There is little doubt but that his withholding bill, which last year was three times rejected by the Senate, will be quickly adopted.

His chances of getting a sales tax are good, although that fight will be fraught with some uncertainty.

From Furcolo's personal standpoint a critical question will be the political price in terms of his own future he will pay for the new taxes he imposes on the people of Massachusetts. Strangely enough, that is a consideration which never has troubled Furcolo as much as it has some of his associates.

He already has proved that it isn't an act of political suicide for a Democratic Governor to advocate and fight for a sales tax. Perhaps he'll provide some other evidence that will startle and confound the professional politicians.

One thing to remember, however, is that Furcolo's goal is a seat in the U. S. Senate and that he's aiming toward a battle with Senator Leverett Saltonstall in 1960. Some of the things which happen this year on Beacon Hill could and undoubtedly will have a trend on the impact of that struggle.

Newton Boys, 15, Hear Red Rocket Signals on Ham Set

Two 15-year-old Newton schoolboys received and recorded signals from Russia's cosmic rocket, a few hours after it had been sent into outer space.

The young Newton scientists, David Maltz of 6 Forest avenue, Newton, and Malcolm Morrison of 25 Lakeview avenue, Newtonville, used the simplest of scientific apparatus. It consisted of a short wave receiving set, a pair of tape recorders and a wire strung in the attic to serve as an aerial.

The boys are sophomores at Newton High. They picked up the signals twice on their ham radio receiver on the 15 meter band, between 19,995 and 19,997 megacycles.

"The first signal was composed of three tones," David reported, "and the second signal was a solid one."

The boys set up their receiving equipment within minutes after they had learned the Russian rocket had been launched.

"Both Malcolm and I have short wave receiving sets and tape recorders," David explains. "But we decided to work together at my house so that one of us could work the receiver and the other the tape recorder."

Two signal recordings were made.

The first had three repeated descending notes, in a triad, each set of three repeated only seconds apart.

The second signal was a whine, with just a slight tremolo.

For an antenna the boys ran a section of wire into the attic of David's home and attached it to a home-made TV-type antenna which David built several years ago.

Both boys, who have been friends for seven years, plan to apply for ham radio operators' licenses this summer.

"Since we don't have a license now," Malcolm said, "all we can do is listen to broadcasts on the short wave set."

Malcolm and David plan to become doctors.

Dave Baker's Father Dies After Seeing Son in Bowl

After watching his son, David, play a leading role in a gallant effort by Syracuse University's football team to overcome an early game deficit against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., on New Year's Day, Leonard D. Baker of Newton Centre was stricken in his hotel room. He died before medical aid could reach him.

He was 51 and had appeared in excellent physical condition. Mrs. Baker was by his side when the end came.

The family home is at 881 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

The proud parents had watched the progress of the Syracuse team all season and when the Orange was chosen to face the powerful Oklahoma team in the bowl game at Miami they immediately made plans to attend.

Dave Baker was one of two Newton boys on the Syracuse squad. The other was Dan Fogarty, quarterback. Each was outstanding through the successful season. Although neither was a member of the usual starting team, each played a considerable part of every contest until Baker suffered a knee injury in the West Virginia game on Nov. 22. Although disappointed in the result of the game which saw Oklahoma return a 21-6 winner, Mr. Baker took the result philosophically.

However, on the bus which returned them from the Orange Bowl to Miami Beach Hotel, he complained to Mrs. Baker of feeling ill. The couple went directly to their room on arrival at the hotel. When Mr. Baker's condition appeared to become worse, a call was put in for the Syracuse team physician, Dr. George Manley.

Death came before Dr. Manley reached the room.

Mr. Baker was a salesman in the employ of the Reed Motor Co., Arlington.

His death saddened the entire Syracuse delegation to the Orange Bowl. He leaves, besides Mrs. Baker and David, a daughter, Mrs. Richard Alexander of Newton Centre.

The game itself was decided in its early minutes when Oklahoma jumped into a quick 14-0 lead by virtue of two stunning plays. After the first period, experts generally declared that the Orange held its own against the powerful Sooners.

Both Baker and Fogarty were outstanding in their attempts to put their team back into contention after those early scores. Each saw plenty of action, although Baker was removed when he suffered a knee injury in the kick-off following Syracuse's fourth period score.

Fogarty ran the team well whenever he replaced Chuck Zimmerman at quarterback for the Orange.

He not only directed the team soundly but proved a bulwark on defense.

The hard-charging Sooner line made passing difficult for their opponents all afternoon. Fogarty threw three times. One of his passes was intercepted; another was overthrown and a third missed completion by inches. He carried the ball four times himself for a total gain of nine yards.

Fogarty acted as captain of the Orange while he was in the game.

One of Syracuse's outstanding plays came in the first

Mr. Millar has had a distinguished career as educator, linguist and traveller. Mr. Gilroy, coming to the United States in 1919, after a three-year pastorate in Wisconsin, was called to succeed the late Dr. Howard A. Bridgman, as editor-in-chief of The Congregationalist. After 21 years, he retired from the paper in 1943, and has since served for extended periods as pastoral supply in various churches, including the Highlands and North Congregational churches in Newton.

He retired recently from outside activities to remain at home, but still continues to write a weekly religious column which is syndicated nationally.

Mrs. Gilroy has been seriously ill in recent years. An only son, John, is assistant director of electronics at the Argonne Laboratory, conducted by the University of Chicago at La Mont, Ill.

period and involved Baker. Confronted with a fourth-down-five-to-go situation, Zimmerman decided to gamble. He called for a kick formation but received the ball himself in his blocking post and passed nicely to Baker.

The play covered 25 yards and carried Syracuse to the Okies' 26-yard line.

In the third period the Sooners' fullback, Prentice Gault, took a direct pass from centre. Baker had the play diagnosed correctly and shot into the Oklahoma backfield like a jet. He brought Gault down before the fullback could take a step.

A large number of TV-viewers in Newton watched the game, first to be televised of the Bowl series on New Year's Day.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

AFTER-CLASS . . . The three class committees at the high school have been busy with several activities. The sophomore drive for 25 cent dues has begun and three assemblies are being presented to the 10th graders. They are concerned with the Navy Band, Magic and Science and Driver Safety. On May 9 the annual sophomore dance will be held. The Junior Class is looking ahead to the Junior Prom on Saturday. Ted Bernard's four-piece orchestra will be featured that evening. Linda Covich and Vinnie Farina are heading all plans for the dance.

At the senior class' big birthday party for the Century Class at Senior Supper last month, Dud Briggs was the square dance caller. The highlight of the evening was a five-layer thirty-six inch wide birthday cake. Heading the committees were Marla Kerr, tickets; Sue Calahan, hospitality; Fran White, decorations; Ken Lappin, entertainment; Judy Wagner, catering; Jerry Kenney, refreshments; and Amy Jo Sostillo, cake.

THE GREAT BIG WONDERFUL WHIRL . . . According to Hal Cohen, chairman of the Legislature dances, the great big wonderful whirl may not be so wonderful anymore. Although all types of attractions have been offered at Legislature Dances during the past two years, attendance has continued to be very disappointing. The whole attitude of disinterest on the part of the student body has been very discouraging.

The usual number of students at these dances ranges between two and three hundred. This is very small when it is remembered that there are more than 3000 pupils attending Newton High. It has been stated that at least 500 would be required to be able to call a dance "successful." The Halloween Dances, on the contrary, have continued to be great successes with almost 1000 students present. Therefore, unless there is a great deal of improvement, this year's student body may be the last to enjoy the privilege of Legislature dances.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE . . . Last month the sports banquet for the Cross-Country Track and Football Teams was held at the Normandy Room at Norumbega Park. This annual affair was attended by all members of both teams.

International Issues Theme

A meeting of the World Affairs Council of Newton was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Anton R. Fried of West Newton. Nicholas Nyary, executive director of the World Affairs Council of Boston, met with the directors of the local organization and representatives of cooperating groups to discuss Newton's participation in the nationwide program for the study of foreign affairs which will be held in February and March.

Small groups will meet informally in homes, churches and libraries once a week for eight weeks to discuss major international issues. The first event in this year's program in the Boston area will be a meeting at the Sanders Theatre in Cambridge next Thursday at 8 p.m. Former Secretary of the Air Force Thomas K. Finletter will speak on "Foreign Policy; the Next Phase."

The basketball and hockey seasons are in full swing now. The Rally Committee is working its hardest to promote attendance at these games and to encourage school athletic spirit in general.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Ushering at the Newton-Brookline football game a few weeks ago were Cindy Rowland, Katherine Carleton, Diana Fretto, Marcia Kerr, Diane Fay, Eviline Sabatini, Marcia Meterpar, Lesley Garber, Ellen Haristone, Cathy Davidoff, Merry Arnold, Barbara Crowe, Ellen Chasson, Barbara Walzels, Sandy Best, Joanne Arcuri, Ann Pokorny, Maxine Fineberg, Faith Copeland, Mary Michaels, Linda McKenney, Sue Simmonds, Selma Joos, Connie Worthen, Judy Stitt, Nina Foley, Linda Cohen, Joanne Kneeland, Margie Freedman, Carol Chandler, Sue Fowler, Margie Hilton, Fran Rosen, Mary Ann Theophile, Linda Slavin, Liz Plotkin, Edward Brady, Hal Cohen, Phil Corsi, Terry Dangel, Richard Dunleavy, Warren Dullion, David Dow, Charles Gordon, Noel Goulston, Edward Kasok, Jim Kingsdale, Steve Kaufman, Les Milner, Bruce Perry, Harvey Peters, Everett Shine, Joe Silver, Russell Spaninato, Barry Wish, Steve Zibel, and Allan Zelman.

These students were organized by Mary Ann Theophile, chairman of the Civics Committee, and Guide Committee, to help lead people to their seats and to keep general order during the game.

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth, Director of Health Services at Harvard University spoke at a faculty meeting recently. His speech was concerned with "Students as People." Dr. Farnsworth was concerned with the problems faced by students and their essential need to obtain a good set of basic values.

Miss Rideout has headed the Reading Study Clinic for many years at Newton High School. With the help of Mr. Carey, Miss Steere, Miss Rae, Mr. Nye, and Mr. Leigh, Miss Rideout instructs students with special English needs. She also helps advanced students who desire additional vocabulary or reading speed development. Students may be recommended to the clinic by teachers, parents, or guidance counselors. They may feel the need to go on their own. Small group and individual assistance is the outstanding feature of this English aid. The clinic is open before and after school in addition to its regular 8:35-2:45 schedule. In the May, 1957, "English Journal," the clinic was recognized as one of the forty-one successful programs of its kind.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

The next time John Payne, TV's "Restless Gun," gets cornered by a couple of bad guys take a good look at his shooting iron. It's a Buntline Special, not a little different from the one TV's Wyatt Earp carries. It has a short barrel to facilitate a quick draw, but presto! it becomes a rifle in about the time it takes to blink an eye. In Payne's saddle bag is a wooden rifle stock which fits on the grip of his pistol. In a recessed groove on the side of the stock is a long, 12-inch square barrel. A small leather wrench is the only tool needed to make the switch from pistol to rifle, both firing the same .45 calibre shells. The long barrel provides more accuracy as many TV desperadoes have discovered.

Colt made only about 100 Buntline Specials in Civil War days. Now, due to TV publicity, they are being manufactured again. Payne had to cut through a lot of red tape before being allowed to carry his Buntline. He had to get special permission from the U. S. Treasury Department, and because the barrel is less than 18 inches long it had to be registered as a machine gun under the Federal Firearms act. Consequently, there is a red cross across the barrel to keep it from firing live ammunition. But, if you're a customer of ours, please don't keep it a secret from your friends. Tell them where they can get the fastest and most expert TV service in town. If you're not now a customer be sure to call us the next time you have trouble with your TV set.

Ordered Tow of Newton Man's Car Ends in Disaster

Even though in the technical custody of Boston police, a car owned by Isidore Isenberg of Chestnut street, Newton, broke away from its captors, busted its way into a Boston bank and smashed itself up considerably in the process.

Its untoward behavior caused a few headaches and red faces in Boston and deprived Mr. Isenberg of its use for several days.

The machine—a 1952 model sedan—had no previous record of misbehavior. Indeed, it was a typical well-behaved, thoroughly suburbanized machine which quietly took Mr. Isenberg to work in the morning and back home at night.

Moye Chevrolet Company Busy Automobile Agency

One of the busiest automobile agencies in the area is located at Moye Chevrolet St., Newton, where the popularity of the 1959 Chevrolet cars and trucks has brought a new flow of business.

With the new passenger car and truck business added to the usual brisk trade in used cars and trucks Moye Chevrolet is moving in high gear and anticipates a record business year in the coming twelve months.

Newcomers may ask the reason for this rush of business, and the answer is easy to find: the outstanding record of Moye Chevrolet for fine service and courteous attention by both sales and service personnel. Moye Chevrolet has built this reputation over a long period, and its list of satisfied customers, best advertisers are its long record of both passenger cars and trucks of the Chevrolet Division of General Motors has helped build up this agency. The Chevrolet reputation for dependable, thrifty, long-term performances and high trade in values is one of this firm's greatest assets.

In addition, the advanced styling of the 1959 cars has obviously caught the public's fancy. The sweeping lines and alert, lively look of this great automobile in the low priced field seem to assure Moye Chevrolet of a banner year.

Our Pets Have Friends At Newton Kennel Shop

A fine personalized service for pets is offered at Newton Kennel Shop, 1064 Centre St., where dogs, and especially French Poodles, are bathed, trimmed and clipped so perfectly that dog fanciers from a wide area are bringing their pets there for "beautician" treatment.

French Poodles are a specialty of this outstanding shop, since this great breed has become so increasingly popular that its numbers in fine homes throughout the area fully warrant this extra service. The same is true of Cocker Spaniels, another great breed and one of the most numerous in the entire country.

French Poodles are well known to the general public because of their distinctive hair-dos, but not so well known is the fact that this breed is sagacious, friendly and loyal, as well as being an excellent home companion and guardian.

The fine qualities of French Poodles have resulted in their steady growth in numbers in this country, and many of the finest specimens are owned by residents of the Newton sector, where Cocker Spaniels are also numerous and have been for years.

Newton Kennel Shop is responsible for the wonderful appearance of so many of these dogs seen daily in the area, and many other breeds as well.

A phone call by the dog owner and lover to LA 7-2485 will bring further information on this novel and outstanding service.

Rawson Pledges Solid Front Against Rail Service Slash

Representative George E. Rawson of Newton has undertaken the task of presenting a "united and determined" opposition to the petition of the Boston & Albany Railroad to the State Public Utilities Commission for the right to further curtail its rail service in Newton.

"I have sent a written protest to the D.P.U.," he informed The Graphic, "against the petition of the New York Central Railroad to be permitted to abandon the Newton station."

"I have received from Francis J. Hickey, Jr., secretary of the D.P.U., the following communication:

"Your correspondence relative to the above petition, (DPU 12796) of the N. Y. Central R. R. Company has been referred to the writer for repl. by Chairman Francis X. Lang.

"Please be advised that the entire commission has been informed of your vigorous opposition to the petition and that your letter has been placed in the above-captioned docket to serve as a reminder to the commission when they take up this matter in executive session.

"The chairman also wishes to thank you for your valuable thoughts on this matter as well as your fine opinions in the past."

Rawson said today, that as soon as he is "informed by the commission of the date of the hearings, I will make that date known to the people of Newton through the columns of The Newton Graphic in order that we may offer united and determined opposition to the granting of this petition. It is my belief that we can make out a strong case for the continued operation of the Newton station as required by public necessity and convenience."

Not Too Late To Get Your Seal Check In

Have you forgotten to get your check in the mails for your Christmas seals?

It's really needed. The Newton Tuberculosis Association announces it has received $14,000 from the annual sale thus far. It figures its minimum budget needs around $20,000 and is depending on those late returns to go over the top.

Last year's budget was $19,000 and barely covered the demands of the association's program, according to Mrs. Hilda G. Hope, executive director. From every dollar of income on Christmas seals, 84 cents is used right here in Newton. The other 16 cents is divided between State and national research projects.

MTA Old Highland Branch Operation Now Expected To Begin About July 1st

July 1 now looms as the target date for the transport of the first passengers over the old Highland Branch of the Boston & Albany from Riverside to Boston MTA trolley cars.

Work progress to date and a winter which has thus far brought plenty of cold but little snow has caused officials to hazard the guess that the MTA rapid transit service designed to supplant the old B. & A. operation will be ready by the first day of July.

One of the major engineering problems anticipated when the MTA trustees finally won permission of the Legislature to establish the Riverside-Boston link was the work to be done on the Boston end.

Hearing Feb. 6 On Closing Of Newton Station

Newton leaders are planning to appear before the State Public Utilities Commission at a hearing to be held at 10 a.m. on Friday, Feb. 6, to offer strenuous objection to a petition by the Boston & Albany Railroad for the right to abandon the Newton station and discontinue the operation of 10 trains between Riverside and Boston. The hearing is to be held in room 166 at the State House.

Representative George E. Rawson today urged all Newton residents interested in the matter to sign a petition which he will submit to the Utilities Commission urging that the B. & A. application be denied. Rawson pointed out that many persons are dependent upon the transportation which the B. & A. would eliminate. "This is a community matter of prime importance," he observed.

The major problem on that end was the cutting of a tunnel under Beacon street to link the former railroad tracks with the MTA line at Kenmore square and its connection with the Park street subway station.

This work has progressed rapidly, with a valued "assist" coming from the open winter. Work in Newton has also been carried forward at a pace faster than many had anticipated. Trolley poles have to be set up for the entire line; the old B. & A. trackbed has to be adapted to MTA needs, parking lots and waiting stations have to be established. This part of the program is now well beyond the "spading" stage.

One of the major installations will be a 1350-square foot parking lot at Riverside with a terminal at the center to cut down the walking distance for car parkers.

At the Riverside terminal, too, there will be a car turnaround facility. Land for the parking lot was obtained by MTA in a purchase from S. S. Pierce Co.

Furcolo's Chances Brighter Of Winning Sales Tax Fight

While Massachusetts Governors back through the years have declared privately that the Bay State needed a sales tax, only one chief executive of the Commonwealth before Foster Furcolo had the political courage to advocate and call for such a tax publicly.

That was Robert F. Bradford who did not make as forceful or as determined a fight as did Furcolo and was unable to achieve as much headway as did the present Governor in 1957.

Now Furcolo, after proving convincingly that it's possible to urge a sales tax and survive politically to try again, is launching his second big drive for the enactment of a limited 3 per cent impost.

That undoubtedly will touch off the most important battle of the year on Beacon Hill.

Sound and seasoned observers at the State House differ in their opinions as to whether Governor Furcolo can win his latest fight for a sales tax. They all agree, however, that the struggle is likely to be a close one which will be decided by a handful of votes.

One thing which is certain is that Furcolo has a much better chance of emerging the victor from the battle now getting underway than he did when he startled members of both political parties two years ago by proposing a sales tax.

There are a variety of reasons why that is so.

Checks Score, Knee Bullseye

Thomas F. Galvin, 23, of 10 Milton Avenue, West Newton, received a gunshot wound in the knee Monday night from a .22 caliber rifle bullet which struck him as he was at target practice in the cellar of his home.

Police were notified of the incident after Galvin was taken to the Waltham Hospital by a friend. The accident victim told officers that he tripped as he was approaching the target to check his score, and the gun fired.

Although Galvin was alone at the time of the accident, he managed to crawl to the stairs and call to his mother.

The bullet was removed from his knee by a hospital physician.

B.C. Worker Badly Hurt In Car Crash

Felix Pozerski, 50, of 4294 Washington street, Roslindale, a baker at Boston College was critically injured when his automobile went out of control near the college and crashed into a tree on Beacon street at Stone Avenue, Chestnut Hill.

He was on his way to work. Police officers were obliged to pry the victim from his wrecked machine. His name is on the danger list at Newton-Wellesley hospital, where he was found to have suffered compound fractures of both wrists, injuries to the head and neck and numerous cuts and bruises.

He was extricated from the car by Patrolmen Salvatore Arico, Francis B. Daly and Leonard A. Farrell.

Bullets Fly In Boy's Wild Ride

Ten Newton police officers participated in a bullet-studded chase Saturday night along the Worcester Turnpike which ended as a 15-year-old boy rammed a tree in Wellesley. Although more than a dozen shots were fired in the stolen car chase, the young culprit escaped with a cut on his head.

Newton police were alerted shortly before midnight and joined Boston and Brookline in the siren-screaming race along Route 9, which at times took on the aspect of a wild west scene. As the caravan crossed the Wellesley line, police of that community joined in trying to stop the joy riding youngster.

Two large trees managed to do what police of four separate departments had been unable to do as the boy crashed his "borrowed" vehicle at Arnold road in Wellesley. He

Prepare To Launch Heart Drive

Plans are moving forward in Newton for the launching here of the 1959 Heart Fund Campaign. Committee meetings are being held, or are planned, throughout the city as the large corps of volunteer workers prepares for the annual fund-raising campaign.

One of the important scheduled meetings, that of the Advance Gifts Committee, will be held next Thursday, January 22, at the home of the committee chairman, Mrs. Samuel Nesson, 1063 Commonwealth Avenue, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

It was announced that the business meeting will be followed by a tea.

Members of the committee include: Dr. and Mrs. John P. Roser, and Mrs. William White from Auburndale; Mrs. Eugene C. Eppinger, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Leo G. Bernheimer, Mrs. Maurice Gordon, Mrs. Bencion Moskow, Mrs. George L. White and Mrs. Chester P. Baker, from Newton.

Also Mrs. Louis Weinstein, Newtonville; Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Franck, Mrs. Sylvester McGlinn, Mrs. Mildred Carlson Rutherford, and Mrs. Paul M.

Pedestrian Was Final Fatality

An 80-year-old pedestrian became 1958's 13th traffic fatality as he lost a fight with death which has been waged since he was struck Dec. 29 at Bracland Avenue and Herick road in Newton Centre.

Pasquale Darmo, of 24 Bracland Avenue, Newton Centre, died Monday at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Medical Examiner Dr. Peter Angelo said that death was due to a cerebral concussion, fractures of both hips and bronchial pneumonia.

Born in Italy and a widower, he made his home with Tito Ferrente at the Bracland Avenue address.

School Committee Tackles Student Parking Problem

An attempt to solve the parking problem in the vicinity of Newton High School is being made by the Board of Aldermen, the School Committee and other school officials.

The issue has been raised because of the complaints from residents who live in close proximity to the high school.

A voluntary program will be attempted, under which students whose homes are within walking distance of the school will be asked not to drive to and from classes in order to lessen the congestion.

The matter was placed before the School Board Monday night when School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman announced that the Aldermanic Board had made an informal request that limited parking at the high school be considered.

Some of the School Board members upheld the right of the students to drive to school if they choose to do so. "Driving to school is a custom," asserted Committeeman Manuel Beckworth. "The prob-

Callahan Statement Produces New Demand From Executive

Plans of Chairman William F. Callahan of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority for building an extension to the East-West Toll Road through Newton are still a carefully guarded secret despite a statement this week by Callahan that they have been completed.

A prediction by Callahan that he will obtain the necessary money within the next few months to start work on the $150-million project caused a stir in some parts of Newton but left Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and other city officials unconvinced that the toll road link is any closer to realization than it has been.

Mayor Whitmore, emphasized, however, that he wants to examine the plans for running the toll road through Newton in order to determine exactly what the impact upon the city would be.

The Mayor said that he has sought repeatedly to see the plans but has been told on each occasion that they were not yet ready.

"In view of Commissioner Callahan's statement that the engineering studies and plans for the extension of the toll road have been completed, it is time that he showed them to Newton officials," Mayor Whitmore asserted.

What put the contemplated toll road extension back into newspaper headlines was an announcement by Callahan that he expects to float Turnpike Authority bonds within the next few months and obtain the $150 million to enable him to build the highway from Weston to Boston.

Callahan said that he expects a decided improvement in the bond market will make it possible for him to get the money he needs for the toll road link.

Newton officials, who are concerned as to the effect the contemplated toll road would have on this city, are somewhat skeptical as to the accuracy of Commissioner Callahan's forecast of an improvement in the money market.

Mayor Whitmore explained that under existing conditions it is not possible for Callahan to get the money to extend the toll road.

Whitmore declared that at the present time the toll road is not making enough money to cover its operating and interest charges and is unable to get out of the red.

The Mayor said the financial experts with whom he has consulted do not know what the basis is for Callahan's forecast.

Capacity Turnout Seen At Achievement Dinner

Sinclair Weeks, former Secretary of Commerce in the cabinet of President Eisenhower, will make his first public address since retiring from the cabinet, as principal speaker at the first annual Achievement Dinner of the Newton Chamber of Commerce at the Commonwealth Country Club next Tuesday evening.

Special press, radio and television coverage of the Weeks address, now being arranged, points to some remarks of particular news significance from the former cabinet officer.

Executive director Justin Horan, of the Chamber of Commerce, told The Graphic last night that reservations for the dinner are approaching the 400 mark and warned those who have been lax in securing tickets to do so promptly. Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at LA 7-4650 or by writing to the office.

Director Horan also stated that among other unique features of the dinner meeting will be the distribution, for the first time, of an annual and comprehensive report on the Newton Chamber for 1958. This will deal with the make-up, aims, accomplishments and future goals of the organization.

The first printed monthly bulletin of the Chamber also will be distributed at the dinner meeting.

The election of officers will take place at 6 o'clock just prior to the dinner. President Dwight Colburn will preside at the dinner meeting but will turn over the gavel to his successor at the dinner.

Murray Sholkin, a Chamber director and past president, will introduce the guest speaker, Mr. Weeks.

Many distinguished State figures and Newton city officials will be present at the dinner with Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., congratulating the Chamber of Commerce for its 1958 achievements in the name of the City of Newton.

Free World Leaders Offer Condolences to Princess

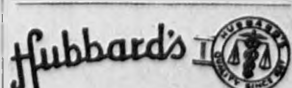

Messages of condolence from all capitals of the Western World, from royalty and commoners, poured into Newton this week to the former Romanian Princess Ileana, expressing sympathy in the tragic death of her daughter, Countess Maria Ileana, 25, and the countess' husband, Count Jaroslav Kottulinsky, 39.

The couple died in the crash of Luthansa Super Constellation plane near the international airport at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The crash took the lives of 34 other passengers and members of the crew. Three crew members survived.

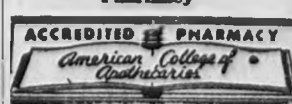

Princess Ileana received the news of the tragedy at her home at 30 Hyde Avenue, Newton. The Countess formerly was a member of the secretarial staff of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York. The plane was piloted by Captain Wren McMains of Stamford, Conn. Countess Maria Ileana made her home with her mother in

Woman's Club at Lecture on Iraq

Members of the Auburndale Woman's Club met recently at the home of Mrs. David A. Bergmark to hear Selah Hadbal of Iraq lecture on "Ancient History and the Present Day Situation," of his country.

The speaker made very clear his peoples unfavorable acceptance of our foreign policy and the difficulty of Iraq in adjusting to the pace of the modern world. Education and modern methods are the solution to his countries problems, Hadbal felt.

Miss Lucy A. Turner, chairman of the Literature and International Affairs Committee, acted as chairman for the day and Mrs. Walter S. Frost poured tea.

Newton At The Crossroads

The Taxpayers' Current Program

(Printed below is the first of several articles to be prepared by the Newton Taxpayers' Association on various aspects of Newton's economy with special reference to taxation and its relation to land and building use in the city.)

After studying Newton's economic progress for several years the Newton Taxpayers' Association has concluded that if Newton is to stay a first class city financially it is important to stimulate new investment particularly in the older areas. Basically the city must develop an increasingly strong property value base if the costs of maintaining and improving its standards of services are to be met without furthering the inequities inherent in the property tax. Also the Association has concluded that the city right now can do several things to make itself more attractive to high grade new capital investment on its older land without detracting from the city's overall residential nature.

In 1957-58 the Association developed a program to encourage new investment in profitable and taxable multifamily construction projects, both as new projects supplying a demand in themselves and as replacements for deteriorating properties.

At present the program calls for the following steps:

1. The adoption and enforcement of a Housing Code as such. Such a code generally puts the enforcement authority in the Health Department. Also such a code is rather ineffective without enforcement on an area basis rather than on the individual basis presently used.

2. A revamping of the zoning ordinance in at least three ways:

a. To give more opportunity for multiunit construction in suitable areas.

b. Where actual dominant uses, block by block, do not coincide with present zoning, either to enforce the current zoning or to change the zone so it does coincide with the actual uses, in both cases after consultation with block residents and abutters.

c. To review the amount of land per multifamily living unit requirements.

3. Revision of the building code in the light of modern building techniques, at least so as to cut off requirements which make purchasers and investors pay something for nothing of real value in construction.

4. Passage of legislation to permit Urban Redevelopment Corporations to act to prevent decadence rather than having to wait for decadence to occur.

Committees are at work on all elements in this program.

The Association welcomes the advice and aid of other groups or individuals who are interested in these problems, for it is urgent that Newton act to enhance its economic health where and while it can.

Variance Pleas Before Zoning Board Jan. 27

Permission to extend a greenhouse in Newton Centre and to establish a funeral home on Centre street, Newton, will be sought at a public hearing before the Board of Appeals on Zoning at 7:45 p.m., Jan. 27 at Newton City Hall.

Robert B. Seltzer, 129 Truman road, Newton Centre, is seeking to extend his present greenhouse at Seltzer's Garden City, 11 Florence street, Newton Centre. The addition he proposes would be one foot from the street line, instead of 25 feet as required by the ordinance.

Seltzer seeks a hardship variance after a previous denial of his petition.

Vyvan Mackay, 20 Grant street, West Newton, also seeks a hardship variance, to set up a funeral parlor at 463 Centre street, Newton, a Residence "D" District.

Two previous petitions by Mr. Mackay were turned down but reconsideration was voted.

Other petitions which will come before the Appeals Board, Jan. 27, will be one brought by Marie E. Keefe, 1 Westwood street, West Newton, who seeks to cut 5000 feet from land she owns at that lot in order to construct a second dwelling.

Ralph J. Rubinoff, 112 Winchester street, Newton Highlands, seeks a waiver to permit the construction of a vestibule which would be 21.6 feet from the lot line instead of 25 feet required by ordinance for a house in Residence "C" district.

Seeks Plans-

cast of an improvement in the money market. They feel, Whitmore said, that there is as much likelihood that the market will tighten as there is that it will ease.

If the bond market remains as it is now or becomes any tighter, plans for extending the toll road through Newton necessarily will remain pigeon-holed.

Commissioner Callahan has indicated in his statements that he would build the toll road extension along the main line of the B & A railroad.

One of the things Mayor Whitmore and other city officials want to learn, if plans for the toll road addition are to be carried forward, is whether Callahan proposes to widen the roadway to the north or to the south of the existing tracks.

They also desire to ascertain where the tracks themselves would be relocated.

If Commissioner Callahan decides to widen the roadway to the south of the B & A tracks, it would involve taking a great deal of property, most of it homes.

If he expands north of the tracks, it is possible that Washington street might be affected.

Callahan faces a serious problem in either direction. But from the attitude of municipal officials it seems evident that they are extremely doubtful the toll road is going to be extended at any time in the foreseeable future.

Mayor Whitmore observed that Commissioner Callahan's statement "is the same tune he has been whistling for two years."

"One thing he cannot dictate," the Mayor commented, "is the actions of the bond market."

"The earnings of the Toll Road are still not sufficient to put the operation in the black," he said.

Mayor Whitmore added that people in the financial field are not at all convinced that the money market is going to improve as Commissioner Callahan says it is.

Local Savings Bank Names Frederick Ober President

Joseph Earl Perry and William H. Rice were re-elected to the offices of president and chairman of the Board of Trustees, respectively, of the Newton Savings Bank at the annual meeting of the Corporation held Jan. 7 at the Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton but announced that they planned to retire from their offices on April 30.

The Trustees accepted the resignations with regret, noting that Rice had been connected with the bank for over 50 years while Perry had served as president for 15 years. They then announced their intention of electing Frederick C. Ober of Sunny Hill road in Lunenburg, who had been elected a Corporator earlier in the evening, as president of the Newton Savings Bank at their next regular meeting on April 7. He will assume his new post on May 1.

Ober is presently president of the Fitchburg Savings Bank. Frederick S. Bacon and Douglass B. Francis were re-elected vice presidents and Arthur K. Wells as clerk of the corporation and board of trustees.

John M. Bierer, Ralph M. Binney, Theodore L. Buell, Hugh Harwood, Richard M. Nichols, Earl P. Stevenson, John M. Tomb, Clifford H. Walker and Arthur K. Wells were re-elected Trustees for a three year term.

Robert R. Amesbury of Wellesley and Richard A. Winslow of 20 Exeter street, West Newton were elected to the Board of Trustees for the first time for a two year term. Amesbury is Chief Product Engineer, Carr Fastener Company Division of United-Carr Fastener Corporation and Winslow is General Counsel for the Boston Insurance Company. William H. Vogler was re-elected Chairman and E. Graham Bates and Don J. Edwards members of the Auditing Committee for the coming year.

At the dinner following the meeting the President reviewed some of the highlights of Newton history and the history of the bank, which is now the tenth largest savings bank in Massachusetts and stands third in number of deposit transactions. He stated that in the fifteen years that he has been connected with the bank its income has more than quadrupled its total resources have increased by 415%; its mortgage portfolio by 685% and its Life Insurance Department by 820%. He stated that he had been unable to find any comparable bank record in the 143 year history of savings banking in Massachusetts. In spite of the rapidity of recent growth he predicted that the best days lie still ahead and that the bank should pass the $100,000,000 mark during the present year.

The Trustees voted to pay the semi-annual dividend, which was payable January 12th at 3 1/4%.

Benjamin F. Louis, Treasurer of the Bank, reported that

The total deposits stood at an all time high of $79,420,000, with total resources of over $96,000,000, including the Life Insurance Department. He reported mortgage investments on more than 6,000 homes and business properties of over $58,000,000. and Savings Bank life Insurance in force of over $35,000,000. on 25,187 policyholders. ## Working Boys' Home Thanks Newton Police

Newton police received an expression of deep gratitude this week from the Working Boys' Home in Newton Highlands, the brothers who operate the home and the boys themselves, for the work of the police in making "extras" possible.

Each year members of the department conduct a Christmas fund campaign for the home.

In a letter to Police Chief Philip Purcell, Brother Jacques, C.F.X., superintendent of the home, wrote,

"We are deeply grateful to you and your associates on the police force for the kindly interest in the home that prompted you to sacrifice so much time in collecting the Christmas Fund this year. I realize full well what hard work this can be and I can only trust that the good Lord will reward you."

"The results, of course, are most gratifying and the fund will be a tremendous help to us in the work we are trying to do for the young boys under our care. You may be sure that you will have a large share in their daily prayers."

The fund committee was made up of Sergeant Albert A. Smith, Patrolman T. Manley Kiley and retired Inspector Joseph B. Lyons.

Further land acquisitions are not necessary. The old B.A. stations will be dismantled and the land they occupy used for parking spaces. The old stations will be supplanted by smaller waiting room shelters.

There will be two exceptions. The Newton Centre station will be retained by the MTA. The old station at Woodland has been sold to the Woodland Golf Club.

Authorities see no chance of any change in the 20-cent MTA fare setup when the line finally goes into operation, with a single token commanding a ride over the nine-mile distance from Riverside to Park street.

Tackles Parking-

"We have just one more year until the new high school is completed," he added. "If we just sit tight and ask the neighbors to wait, the problem will be alleviated when the new high school is opened."

Many of the students who drive come from the south side of the city, Beckwith stated.

Chairman Beckwith suggested that students who live beyond a certain distance from the high school be given permission to drive but that those residing closer to the school be restricted in their right to drive and park at their school.

Some School Board members expressed doubt that a student's right to park on a public street can be restricted.

PTA Problems Discussion Topic

Front Door Bargains?

Not every sales person who comes to your door is a crook. Some, possibly the minority, are the representatives of reputable firms, engaged in reputable sales promotion.

If you don't know the person; if he or she cannot furnish proper identification of himself or herself and those they claim to represent, you've only one wise course of action.

That's to dismiss the caller, politely, if you will, but nonetheless firmly.

In Boston's Federal Court recently five men were hauled before the bar of justice and were found guilty. The government alleged they were the promoters of a door-to-door magazine subscription fraud.

The prosecuting attorney told the court they had reaped a sizeable $42,000 return on their scheme.

Their gimmick was to hire cripples to solicit the subscriptions. Housewives, at least a lot of them, were too sympathetic to turn the cripples away. They listened, signed up for subscriptions they didn't want and paid a deposit as evidence of their "good faith."

They never got the magazines. The cripples got a pittance for "fronting" for the schemers and the men behind the idea turned to new fields to mulct other housewives.

Finally the complaints came in and the men were run down.

During the course of every court year such schemes are exposed. The courts take no lenient view of the rackets and mete out harsh sentences. That doesn't prevent new schemers from thinking up new door-to-door rackets. Nor do those who get out of jail forego the idea.

It is well to keep in mind that the itinerant, glib-talking, door-to-door salesman — the type you've never seen before, the type that offers absurd bargains or inducements — cannot really compete with the established business concerns in your own shopping center.

Your favorite stores are within a few minutes of your door. They will be there tomorrow and the day after that. If you are aggrieved about a purchase, they will talk it over with you and refund your money if you are not satisfied.

The Better Business Bureaus, the Chambers of Commerce and the police do all in their power to protect you against the unscrupulous.

They cannot, of course, stand at your door to warn you of the approach of the "phony" salesman. Usually you are on your own when you open that door.

Those housewives who bought worthless magazine subscriptions from cripples with whom they sympathized were probably pretty shrewd shoppers.

Given an even start on bargain days, they would come home with as many "good buys" as their next-door-neighbors.

But they forgot for a moment that you just don't get bargains from strangers who come ringing the front door bell.

Political Highlights

he did in 1957. He has stronger support in both branches of the legislature. He has succeeded in breaking down some of the opposition to a sales tax which existed two years ago.

While the sales tax opponents will put up a fight against the Governor's proposal, it will not be as potent or as effective as the one waged during the '57 session.

One very powerful argument against the sales tax bill has been eliminated. That was the oft-repeated claim that any legislator — especially any Democratic legislator — who voted for such a tax would be signing his own political death warrant.

That myth was exploded in last year's Primary and election when not a single legislator who had voted for the sales tax was defeated on that issue.

The sales tax fight will be a critical one for Governor Furcolo. He can't afford to lose for several reasons. It also will be a critical one for the Commonwealth and for the cities and towns across the State.

A question which those who vote against the sales tax should be prepared to answer is this: If the sales tax bill is rejected, what's the alternative?

It isn't easy for Governor Furcolo to recommend a sales tax. It isn't easy for the average legislator to vote for one. And it isn't especially easy for a political columnist to support the sales tax proposal.

Nobody wants either to pay or vote for a sales tax. But Governor Furcolo is confronted with the problem of obtaining more money to finance the operation of the State government. If he doesn't get it from a sales tax, he'll have to get it from some other source.

And what other source is there? What tax would you suggest as an alternative for the sales tax to raise money which is needed?

Practically every city and town in Massachusetts is faced with the prospect of a substantial increase in its tax rate — unless a sales tax is placed on the books. The plain fact is that in some communities the tax rates already have reached confiscatory heights — already are so high that many people just can't afford to own their own homes because of the high taxes they would have to pay on them.

Two-thirds of the money raised by the sales tax will be distributed to the cities and towns to ease their tax burdens.

Some Democratic legislators undoubtedly will vote against Governor Furcolo's sales tax bill because they're afraid to vote for it, not because they know of any better way of raising the money needed.

"Is that what you call taking care of our cat?"

Some Republican legislators unquestionably will vote against the proposal because it was advanced by a Democratic Governor.

It would be stretching the facts to say that the people want a sales tax. It's also stretching the facts to maintain that they are as violently opposed to a sales tax as many opponents of the impost claim they are. If they were, they would have thrown Governor Furcolo out of office last November and would have given the heave-ho to the legislators who voted for a sales tax in 1957.

There is some reason to believe that many fair-minded people realize that more money is needed to finance their State government, that it has to come from some new tax and that a sales tax is about as painless a way of getting it as there is.

They, too, may well wonder what new tax they will get if they don't get a sales tax.

Passage of Withholding Law Is Forecast for This Month

Present indications on Beacon Hill are that the bill calling for the adoption of the State income tax withholding system will be sped through the two branches of the Legislature in swift fashion and that it will be enacted into law before the end of this month.

Passage of the measure, which last year was defeated three times in State Senate, is now a foregone conclusion.

Glaring Republican Weakness Is Lack Of Positive Program

One of the weaknesses of the Republican party on Beacon Hill so far in the New Year is that it doesn't stand for anything.

If the GOP intends to advance any affirmative and positive program of its own, there has been no indication of it to date. It may be that it will be impossible to rally the Republican legislators into a sufficiently united front to offer any party program.

An impression exists at the State House that the Republican House and Senate members will rarely vote together as units during the 1959 legislative session.

What is generally expected is that the GOP lawmakers will split on most major issues which arise during the year, that some of them will support the proposals submitted to them by Governor Furcolo and that others will oppose the Governor's measures.

It is quite likely that there will be no official Republican position on many matters, and there is more than a remote possibility that the GOP will suffer from a lack of strong and dynamic leadership in the Legislature.

Republican House Leader Frank S. Giles, for example, had an opportunity the other day, after he had been reelected as the top GOP spokesman in the House of Representatives, to issue a clearcut declaration defining the Republican policy and position.

Instead, he issued a statement containing the usual meaningless political platitudes and double-talk which commanded no attention even from Republicans.

This is what Giles said: "As a minority party we have great responsibilities to the people of Massachusetts, and we must be militant in our demands for responsible government. It is not our intention to be obstructionists, as the Governor has intimated we might be, but we are not going to allow our democratic form of government in Massachusetts to become a dictatorship."

All that statement proves is that it's possible to use 58 words without saying anything.

Responsible Republican leaders know that if their party is to make a comeback in either the 1960 or 1962 election the GOP cannot play a strictly obstructionist or "anti" role on Beacon Hill.

At the same time, of course, the Republican legislators can't afford to be rubber stamps for Furcolo or to adopt a "me, too" attitude.

But if the GOP legislators are going to oppose the measure Governor Furcolo recommends to balance the State budget, they will be obliged to advance some ideas of their own. They can't just sit back and be against everything while at the same time hoping that the voters will put their party back in power.

When the Democrats were in the minority in the Legislature, they always waged fights for bills they knew would be defeated. Their strategy didn't succeed in putting any new laws on the statute books, but it did give them material to talk about in a campaign, and it created the impression in the public mind that the Democratic party stood for something.

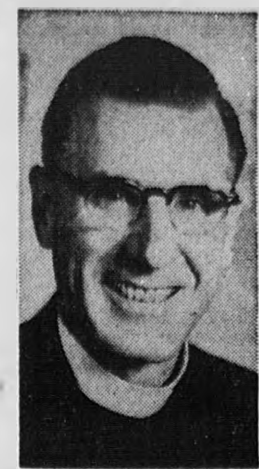

An observer on Beacon Hill would be hard pressed to tell what the Republican party in the Legislature stood for during the past two years, and it would be even more difficult to tell what it stands for now.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Constance Toerkel was granted a divorce in Brisbane, Australia, after she told the court that her husband insisted on keeping a gun across his lap while he was eating all his meals. (Maybe he just wanted to shoot her in case he didn't like her cooking!)

When police in Helena, Mont., arrested a 15-year-old boy for stealing an automobile, he insisted indignantly that he was not a juvenile delinquent. "I don't take hub caps and that kind of stuff," said the youth. "I just steal cars."

After he had been pressed into emergency duty to play the role of the Apostle Simon in a performance of the Passion Play in Seattle, livewire automobile dealer Joseph Gandy took advantage of a lull during the Last Supper to sell a car to the man playing the role of James.

SPEAKER—The Rev. Phillip H. Steinmetz, associate to the general secretary of the Mass. Council of Churches, will be the speaker at the mid-winter dinner meeting of the Newton Council of Churches, comprising 23 churches, on Monday, January 26 at the Newton YMCA.

Campus Notes On Newtonites

George Thornton of Newtonville, a fourth-year student at the Boston University School of Medicine, will discuss "Podagra — History and Martyrs" at the February meeting of the Benjamin Waterhouse Medical History Society.

Cadets Michael E. Wegles, Allan J. Rosenberg and Roger E. Kaufman have been accepted as cadets in the basic course of the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Tufts University. Wegles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Wegles of 44 Pembroke street; Rosenberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Averil Rosenberg of 79 Maplewood avenue, Newton Centre; and Kaufman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Kaufman of 6 Stoneleigh road, West Newton.

Two Newton girls recently received top honors at Lesley College for their work on the school's newspaper, the Lantern. They are Roberta Shapiro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shapiro of 16 Howland road, and Linda Lomasney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lomasney of 16 Commonwealth park.

PTA Council Seeks Better School Library Facilities

A move for improved school library facilities in Newton has been started by the PTA Council.

Superintendent of Schools Eric Dennard in an address before the PTA Council at its January meeting declared that libraries are "the hub of a school system."

Robert Ward, speaking for a PTA Council committee of library chairman, expressed the belief that the allotment of 50 cents per pupil for library books and equipment may be too low in view of rising costs of supplies and in comparison to most other school systems.

Miss Elvajan Hall, library coordinator for the Newton schools, listed three basic needs for adequate school library facilities in the city.

1. A larger budget.
2. Expanded quarters.
3. Trained librarians or master teachers.

She cited the Day Country school system in Florida as one in which every school has a librarian at least part time.

Superintendent Dennard observed that Waco, Texas, had 26 trained school librarians in a school system of comparable size to that of Newton which has only nine librarians, some part-time.

Parents from the PTAs have worked hard in many schools to substitute for professional librarians, but the feeling expressed by many at the Council meeting was that parents cannot adequately fill the role of trained librarians.

It was also pointed out that while books from the children's divisions of the Newton public libraries can be requested by the teachers for special work in the public schools no large-scale use of books can be enjoyed since the library stocks are low.

The consensus of opinion was that there should be close cooperation between public and school libraries to cut down the cost to the city in duplication of effort and to promote both types of libraries.

A motion was adopted to have Irving Hellman, president of the PTA Council, appoint a committee of not more than 10 members, representing PTA presidents, library chairman, school and public librarians and the school administration, to study library needs in Newton and to formulate a report to be submitted to the PTA Council and the School Committee.

Paula Gierle of 15 Bonmar circle, Auburndale, a student at Holy Cross Academy, will be the senator from the Norfolk-Suffolk senatorial district.

The members of the Student Government will run the day for the day, participating in meetings and deliberations, and voting on controversial issues.

Dear Friends of the Watertown Federal:

It is indeed a pleasure to report to you that the year 1958 was one of the best in the history of your Association.

Assets have almost reached the twenty-nine million dollar mark, which means a growth of nearly eighteen million dollars in the last five and one half years. Earnings of the Association have more than kept pace with this spectacular growth.

Your Board of Directors is confident that the coming year will be one of relatively full employment and stable economic conditions.

As a result of this faith in the future and consistent with our policy of always paying the highest possible dividend to our shareholders consistent with safety and sound operations, your Board of Directors has voted its intention to declare a dividend at the rate of THREE AND ONE QUARTER PER CENT per annum effective and payable for the six months' period ending June 30, 1959.

May I take this opportunity to thank all our good friends and members who have made the success of this Association outstanding and wish each and every one of you a happy and prosperous New Year.

Cordially,
William P. Sawyer, President

We have a lot of family fun in the evenings with our camera Enthusiasts... Fred has been experimenting with Time exposures and one is apt to be called on to "Hold It" at any odd moment... ## Fund Drive On Sunday Battles Children Killer

The Sgt. Eugene Joseph Daley, Jr. Post No. 2384 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Newton Branch for Cystic Fibrosis Research are working together to reach as many Newton residents as possible in the effort to raise funds for the fight against the disease which affects approximately one in every 600 children born each year.

Integrating the Sunday fund drive in Newton are John J. McGuinness, commander of the VFW post and Mrs. Summer Tye of the Newton Branch for Cystic Fibrosis Research. Among the volunteer workers are:

Mrs. Myron Atlas, Mrs. Francis Bennett, Mrs. Alan Edelstein, Mrs. Irving Kadet, Mrs. Edward Kaplan, Mrs. Harvey Keller, Mrs. Leonard Levine, Mrs. George Sawyer, Mrs. Milton Shapiro, Mrs. Leon Singer, and Mrs. Maurice Smith.

Also, Edward Pitts, Howard Rummel, Charles Schmidt, Charles Schwab, Sterling Taylor and George Thorne.

Remember those rumors about the secret car that delivers 50 miles per gallon? Or the special chemical pill that you drop in your gas tank so your car can run on water? And how about the radar car that can't collide with others? Well, for the next ten years at least, all these things will stay just plain "rumor". Today's average American car doesn't do better than 12-14 miles per gallon, and on super-premium fuel, at that. But the answer to gas economy and easier driving has been found. European car makers have been producing cars that will do over 40 miles per gallon on regular fuel, for years. The only catch is that most European cars have been either ugly, noisy, or too small. There wasn't enough luxury in economy cars.

But that's where Paris comes in. As fashion and design capital of the world, Paris is more conscious of comfort and luxury in cars. So it came as no surprise that France's most important car makers, SIMCA, should try to design a realistic "dream car." The goal was a car that had everything.

Here's what SIMCA did. They designed a car that is really good looking, roomy, economical, powerful, quiet running and luxurious to drive, too. On paper it was great, but actually producing it for less than $2,000 was the main problem. The miracle is, that they did it. Production costs were figured so expertly that the "dream" SIMCA can be sold in America for less than $2,000. But there was still a long way to go. Production cars had to be tested.

Troop 25 Holds Overnight Hike

On one of the coldest days of the winter, when the temperature registered only 10 above zero and the first candle of Chanuka was being lit, a group of 22 Boy Scouts and some of their fathers arrived at Camp Nohscot, Norumbega Council overnight cabin.

They were weighted down by sleeping bags, blankets, food, overshoes, tents and coats to participate in the first survival overnight hike of the season.

After building a fire and setting up housekeeping, the Scouts participated in the Chanukah candlelighting ceremony with song and prayer.

When the boys turned in for the night at 10:30 p.m., First Class Scouts, Scribe Henry Goldman and Michael Suvalle braved the chilly outdoors and slept in a tent and their sleeping bags.

In the morning, Senior Troop Leaders Jerry Angoff, Ken Weinherb and Dick Katz prepared breakfast consisting of oatmeal and flapjacks.

The youths who participated in the hike were:

Camp patrol no. 1: Leader, Michael Suvalle, Steve Finn, Ned Swartz and Arnold Goldstein.

Camp patrol no. 2: Leader, Steve Greenwald, Eric Falkof, Robert Kaplan, Steve Shuman, Roy Feldman and Richard Blume.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Earlier this year, an International Day was celebrated at Beaver Country Day School. A group of eight Newton High students, accompanied by Miss Rae and Mr. Sutherland, met early in the morning at Beaver to hear a lecture by Mr. Lionel Landy. Along with students from other private and parochial schools, Newton's pupils listened to Mr. Landy's talk about "Battle for Understanding: Communications in Today's World." Mr. Landy is New England Regional Director of the Foreign Policy Association. After the talk there was a forum discussion and a luncheon. The entire day was sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Boston with Beaver Country Day.

COLLEGEWISE . . . As usual, much supper-time talk is turning to the subject of colleges once again. For juniors, it is their first real look at the entire situation. To help them, there is an assembly tonight (Thursday) for all parents of college-bound seniors for the purpose of discussing college admissions. This Saturday a movie will be shown about Carleton College in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Auditorium for all juniors and seniors who wish to attend.

A new system of admission was put into effect for the first time this year. It is that of Early Decision. Seven girls Ivy League schools offered juniors the opportunity of applying to only one school and receiving a decision in the early part of December of their senior year. The students had to be approved by their high school. Under this plan Kay Sternfeld was admitted to Barnard College in New York; Carol Isenberg, Judy Arnold, and Mary Small to Wellesley College in Wellesley; and Linda Rubin to Radcliffe College in Cambridge. Whether the new system will be continued is dependent upon the success it has met with this year. The girls accepted under this plan will be attending next fall the respective schools to which they were admitted.

Last Saturday was an exceptional day for Newton High School. Several hundred students flocked down the corridors and to the classrooms even though it was a week-end day. It was the day of the College Entrance Examination Board Scholastic Aptitude Test. Seniors, after many hours of study, were prepared for almost anything. The seniors of the past have endured these exams and so also did the members of this year's senior class.

JOBS AND DASHES . . . Each week that the Newtonite is published, it is delivered to all the home-rooms in the school by means of members of the Newtonite Circulation Staff. Chairman of the staff of seniors is Nancy Mahoney. Helping her are Judy Magner, Suzanne Maguire, Adrienne Manson, Carol Patterson, Sue Shain, Audrey Parsons, Judy Balkan, Louise Crosby, Ruth Shepard, Nancy Seltzer, Sandy Sulkowitch, Joyce Cripps, Reva Magerer, Sue Magerer, Helaine Maysles, Margery Friedman, Joan Tonston, and Marion Taber. The staff of juniors is headed by Jill Schofield and consists of Sylvia Huberman, Judy Nadler, Jane Resnick, Jane Sutherland, Joane Arcuri, William Anthony, Barbara Myers, Ina Sandberg, Peggy Wells, Eileen Rottenberg, Enid Linsky, Jane Schneider, Ellen Roberts, Elaine Cohen, Louisa Scheel, Sue Milman, Charlotte Conrad, Joan Abrahams, and Abbey Hazel. Selby Hickey, Linda Slavin, and Jill Schofield are in charge of mailing.

Subscriptions to the Newtonian are being sold in each home-room now. The circulation of the centennial edition is under the direction of Hal Cohen, Circulation Editor. A Newtonite representative has been elected in each home-room to handle subscriptions and circulation for his room. The yearbook will be published sometime in May. It will feature some special color pictures, a photograph record of the main events of the year and actual pictures of students modeling for the ads in the advertising section. In addition, a special spring supplement will be sent to all subscribers sometime during the summer.

AFTER-CLASS . . . In a way, television is coming to Newton High. Some teachers during the past few years have been making assignments to their students to watch TV. The channel usually assigned is Channel 2. Here, students have the opportunity to watch programs that cover the daily news extensively, programs that discuss the merits of news coverage in general, programs concerned with English, foreign languages, and several other subjects. Many teachers take advantage of this new type of education. Other students watch several of the programs on their own.

Yesterday several students journeyed to Meadowbrook Junior High School after school. The reason for this was that Mr. Charles Weidman of

New York, a pioneer in the field of modern dance, taught a master lesson of modern dance techniques. The students who attended the class felt they had gained a great deal.

The purpose of the English club is to strengthen and widen the members' interest in English and American literature and related arts. It sponsors literary publications for the English Department, has guest speakers, panel discussions, a theatre party, and a spring outing. In addition, it makes an annual gift of books to the school library.

This year, rather than electing a board of officers at the start of the year, the English club has put a novel plan into effect. It has had a series of chairmen. Each chairman leads the club and its activities for one month. Officers will be elected in the spring. The reason for this type of operation is clear. An officer of a club should be a person who has worked hard and well for the club for a long period of time. This qualification is not evident in the fall, but will be in the spring. At that time, the officers will be chosen. Thus far, the club has had two panel discussions and a Christmas play. A trip to Harvard is planned for later this month.

Alpha Gamma Tau, more simply known as the math club, has for its officers Jimmy Sigel, president; Arnold Padlock, vice-president; Marc Slotnick, secretary; and Cole Letteney, treasurer. At its meeting this year, it has discussed paradoxes and math tricks in games. It plans to visit either IBM or Sylvania to inspect their computing machines, have guest speakers, invite neighboring schools to hear these speakers, and sponsor an outing this spring. The club membership is limited to juniors and seniors with A or B grade in the last course of mathematics they took, and members of math 2a. The club is organized to discuss the age-old mathematical problems and to learn some higher mathematics.

Top Advisors For Group Insurance

To get "the best package group insurance plan" possible for Newton city employees, the Board of Aldermen has voted $500 additional to engage the services of an insurance consulting firm. The extra funds will be added to $500 approved by the board a year ago.

Chairman Earle D. Wood of the board's finance committee, reported to the board that Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., has completed plans to engage a disinterested consulting firm to advise on the best program.

The Mayor called the Aldermen's attention to the fact that the insurance project involved about $200,000 a year from the city and a like amount from employees. This, Chairman Wood declared, makes it "quite essential that we buy the best package plan possible."

Alderman Joseph G. Bradley inquired if the group insurance plan would be completed in time for this year's budget and Chairman Wood expressed the opinion that it would be.

Wellesley Officer Held For Grand Jury in Hit-Run Case

Patrolman Edward C. Donahue, 38, of the Wellesley police was ordered held for the February sitting of the Middlesex County grand jury in connection with the automobile death of Isadore Schultz, 63-year-old textile executive, killed in front of his home on Beacon street, Newton, on the evening of Dec. 26.

The decision to bind the officer over was made by Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court after Donahue appeared before him on charges of manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident and driving to endanger.

Judge Mayberry found probable cause in the manslaughter charge and waived jurisdiction on the other charges.

The judge's action followed a hearing in which two principal witnesses appeared before the court and after Judge Mayberry along with police officers, court officers and Attorney Russell Coffin of Wellesley, counsel for Donahue, visited the scene of the accident.

Donahue was released in $5000 bail pending the grand jury action. The grand jury will begin its session next month on Feb. 2.

Moria Malloy, 19, 30 Brunswick street, Newton Centre, and Patrolman Manley J. Kiley of the Newton police were the principal witnesses in the hearing before Judge Mayberry. Donahue had entered a plea of not guilty to all charges.

Miss Malloy told the court that she was driving on Beacon street in the direction of Boston about 5:50 p.m. on the night of Dec. 28. Under questioning by Police Lieutenant John M. McMullen, who acted as prosecutor, she said that she saw a cream-colored station wagon about two or three car lengths ahead of her. She estimated the car was traveling at 40 to 45 miles an hour. She said the brake lights of the car flashed and the car came to a sudden stop. She halted her car, she told the court, got out and saw a man talking to Mrs. Schultz, wife of the victim.

She identified the man as Patrolman Donahue. She said she overheard him ask Mrs. Schultz if he could do anything to help.

She said that Donahue went to the front of his car and appeared to examine the bumper. Mrs. Schultz, she said, became hysterical and was sobbing.

Patrolman Kiley testified he was one of the first police officers to reach the scene. He said he saw a man standing near the victim and talked with him. He said the man was Donahue. He said the man told him he had swerved to avoid striking the victim. Kiley said he assisted in placing the victim in an ambulance but, when he sought to resume his talk with Donahue, found that he had gone.

Kiley declared that he had noted a Massachusetts Police Association green and white sticker on the rear window of Donahue's car.

On the day following the accident, Officer Kiley said that he and Lieutenant James Corcoran of the Newton police traffic division and Inspector Charles W. Lynch went to Donahue's home on Walnut street, Wellesley.

Lieutenant Lynch took the stand at this point and testified that he had asked Donahue if he had a Police Association sticker on his car and Donahue replied, "No, not on this car."

The lieutenant said that he observed the fragment of a sticker consistent with the Police Association's on the rear window of Donahue's car and that the other fragments were found in the trunk.

Lieutenant Corcoran called Donahue's attention to what he considered dents on the bumper of the Donahue car and asked how they had been caused. He said Donahue told him he had not used the car on the night before and that the bumps had been caused a week previously while he was using his machine to push another car.

Later, Lieutenant Corcoran testified, Donahue stated, "I did it. I was driving the car. I don't know why I did it (leave the scene)."

Testimony was also placed before Judge Mayberry to the effect that the victim's body had been hurled 114 feet and that there were skid marks on the road for 99 feet.

Aldermen Cold To Idea Of Toll Rd. Signs In Newton

The arrow-pierced Pilgrim's hat pointing the way to the East-West Toll Road won't be in evidence along Commonwealth avenue Newton, if the wishes of the Board of Aldermen are followed.

The Massachusetts Turnpike Authority recently asked Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., for permission to install 12 Turnpike Trail Blazers at various strategic locations along the avenue. The Mayor, in turn, requested an expression of opinion on the matter from the Board of Aldermen.

The Board had a very definite opinion. It voted 14-3 against the idea.

Chairman Charles H. Cosgrove of the street traffic committee said the signs would be of no advantage whatsoever to the city. He also was a bit caustic about the alleged failure of the Authority to cooperate a bit more with the city — pointing out particularly what he termed its refusal to give any inkling to Newton of its plans for extending the highway to Boston.

Tigers Facing Ringe in Try To Halt Skid

Rindge Tech, the last team that Newton High's ice set was able to beat before it went into an inexplicable six-game losing streak, is next on the agenda for Coach Jack Hall's boys.

And if ever a team wanted to put on a repeat performance it will be the Tiger team when they take the floor at Boston Arena, Saturday. It so happens that no one realizes better than the Tigers that the cellar door in the GBI is wide open right now and Newton is a distinct candidacy for occupancy.

Cambridge Latin was the club which handed Newton its sixth straight loss of the current campaign. In a lot of ways it was the same Cantab club which Newton handled nicely as it obtained a decisive 4-1 victory back in the days when the 1958-1959 campaign was very young.

Since that win, however, the Cantabs apparently found the key to victory. That key was represented by the shift of capable All-Star Tom Dooley from defense to a wing spot on the first line.

All Tom Dooley did against Newton in the Tigers' sixth straight loss was hang up four goals himself and throw in the assists on the Cantab's two other scores. The final score was 6-0.

Newton, unable to mount anything resembling a strong offensive style through most of the game. The defense was very weak in the first period when the Cantabs succeeded in running up four rather quick scores.

At 6:15 in the second period Kent Peters slapped a 15-foot goal which appeared to have given Newton a consolation goal. The goal was disallowed, however, because one of the Orangemen was detected in the crease.

One of the bright spots for Newton was the work of Kelley in the goal. He took over for Reingold who had to give way to the effects of heavy cold in the second period.

The summary:

Cambridge—Rw, MacGinnity; c, Quimby; lw, Dooley; rd, Duffy; ld, Whalen; g, St. George.

Newton—Lw, Downing; c, Keenan; rw, Thompson; ld,

Parents' Responsibilities Call For Strict Baby-Sitting Rules

The winter season is a time for much entertaining and visiting. It's a time when there's a demand for baby-sitters.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of Newton, is in complete accord with the neighborhood and friendliness that is part and parcel of this time of the year.

He has some idea about baby-sitters, too, which he'd like to pass along. Since fire hazards are greatest at this time of the year and most baby sitters are strangers in the households they serve he has some suggestions:

(1) Know the sitter; make inquiries about training and family background.

(2) Employ only sitters who have a sense of responsibility.

(3) Try to have the same sitter regularly if possible, and one who lives nearby.

(4) Have a preliminary interview with the sitter. Acquaint her with the children and pets, especially the watchdog if the family owns one.

(5) Give instructions orally and leave them in writing.

(6) Show sitter all exits and how to get children out of house in case of fire.

Luxurious Winter Is Set For Dolorous Swan of Bullough

If (A) Claustrophobia doesn't set in; or (B) Mal d'amour doesn't hit his (or her) heart, one of those swans that's been causing a lot of Newton folks a lot of worry for the past several months is in for the best days of his (or her) life.

He (or she) never had it so good. Imagine it! Free board and room for life—or at least until next August! No family to worry about! No oil bills to pay! No snow to shovel! No income tax! Just a chance to relax, with bird lovers, bird watchers and countless volunteers ready and willing to administer to every demand.

What more could he (or she) want?

The permanent address of one of those pair of swans that got themselves all mixed up with people's piazzas; the headlines; the Animal Rescue League and what-not several months ago has become "Drumlin Pond, Lincoln; c/o The Audubon Society."

And how does he (or she) react to it? You'd never know. You see this recalcitrant pair are what they call mute swans. Never a squawk from either. At least none you could put on a piece of recording tape.

A blanket and a lot of swan-catching ingenuity went into placing this particular swan in Drumlin Pond.

Seems someone got in touch with Recreation Commissioner Evan C. Johnson. "That swan that's been living alone at Bullough's Pond this winter looks dead or half dead to me, sir," was the gist of the message.

Mr. Johnson took a look-see. He found the swan alive, but he could see that the way he formed this winter there wouldn't be much swimming space open on Bullough's surface. And with no place to swim there'd be no eating for the swan since swans demand their meals water-borne.

The commissioner rounded up a working force which included himself, President Carlton Buttrick, Vice President Earl Wentzel and Conservation Director Guy Mann of the Animal Rescue League. Backed up by Walter Koe, a bird-lover from "way back, they finally rounded up the swan.

The silent one put up a pretty good resistance but a blanket finally effected capture.

PLAN MEETING—The meeting Monday night of the Charles River Medical Auxiliary is discussed by, left to right, Mrs. Henry E. Zellman, president; Mrs. Nathan Shornik, legislative chairman, and Dr. Rosemary A. Murphy, of the Lahey Clinic, guest speaker. Dr. Murphy will discuss, "Calorie Consciousness." Meeting is at the home of Mrs. Louis Pilcher, Berkeley Street, West Newton.

ture. It was decided that Drumlin Pond would be just the place for the swan's winter home. Attendants there would make certain of plenty of free grain — all that he (or she) can eat. And if Drumlin Pond freezes over a brigade of workers will break the ice to insure plenty of living space.

To a swan that's like having a fairy godmother or a TV sponsor underwrite you to a six-month vacation in the plushiest spot Florida has to offer.

After playing Evangeline and Gabriel for months the pair have been written off several times as a couple of swans down in their romantic luck. Others contended it was a case of a romantic smashup with one of the duo just taking off to seek his or her "mad money" elsewhere. If, indeed, the breakup was the result of a lover's quarrel, it certainly wasn't a case of the woman having the last word.

Imagine a real knock-down and drag-out domestic quarrel with nary a word spoken!

There have been reports that a white swan, answering the description of the missing half of the two-some, had been seen cavorting off South Boston's City Point recently. Could be. He or she will have to battle Boston Harbor's gulls for edibles around there. And those gulls are tough.

The swan at Drumlin Pond has everything a swan could ask for save some other swan to share the bliss. Everything but workable wings. Before they turned this swan loose in Drumlin they clipped the wings to make sure it wouldn't try to head for City Point or somebody's front porch.

They say the wings won't be much good for flying purposes until the next moult when the feathers grow out again. That could be as long away as August, one of the bird lovers said.

Some birds have all the luck.

With a new series of "Shirley Temple's Storybook" now beginning, programmed for every third Monday, it is appropriate to discuss the fabulous story of Shirley Temple herself. Miss Temple, the most famous child star in history, came out of retirement as a young housewife and mother of three children to be hostess and occasional star of the series. Her reputation was so great during her heyday as a child star that in spite of the long absence, preceded by several years of infrequent screen appearances, Shirley Temple dolls, clothes and other children's gifts are still among the most popular.

For five years, from the time she was six years old, Shirley Temple was the biggest money-maker in the history of motion pictures. In 1927 her income was seventh in the United States. Her pictures had a universal appeal . . . enjoyed by all ages and were box-office attractions in most nations. Until recently she turned down show business offers, one as much as $25,000 for six minutes work, rather than interfere with her life as a wife and mother. More about Shirley Temple will follow in a later column because we think our readers are interested in her remarkable career.

Army Cites Newton Man For Chemical Corps Aid

Harry A. Wansker, of 195 Mill Street Newtonville, a prominent local resident and president of the New England Chapter Armed Forces Chemical Association and director of government relations, was the recipient of honors at a luncheon held at the Parker House, Boston, when he was presented a citation from the Department of the Army.

Brigadier-General William E. R. Sullivan, deputy chief chemical officer, made the presentation.

The citation, signed by Secretary of the Army, Wilber M. Brucker, was awarded for "outstanding service to the U.S. Army Chemical Corps."

The Newton man was to a major extent responsible for the growth of the Armed Forces Chemical Association and for its vital role in gaining the support of American industry for the acceptance of Chemical Corps objectives.

The citation stated that Mr. Wansker was a member of the Army Chemical Corps.

'Mothers' March' Will Seek Donations in War on Disease

One thousand volunteer workers will go from house to house in Newton Sunday night seeking contributions in the annual Mothers' March.

With a white glove, symbol of the "Hand of Mercy," they will ring the doorbells and knock on the doors of the homes of their neighbors asking donations so that the National Foundation may continue to fight disease and help the crippled.

For the most part those participating in the march of mercy will be mothers, but in some instances they will be reinforced by teen-age daughters.

The Mothers' March in Newton will take place between 7 and 9 o'clock this Sunday night, January 25.

Middlesex County will provide aid to more than 1,000 polio victims alone with the funds obtained Sunday. Many of the victims are mothers of families who need special equipment to cook or sew.

Some are fathers who need a chest respirator to keep alive. Others are able to earn a living at home with the aid of equipment such as wheelchairs and typewriters.

Mrs. Milton L. Kay, of 16 Avery Path, Newton Centre, is Chairman of the Newton Mothers' March.

"First of all," Mrs. Kay stressed, "we would like to have it brought out that the National Foundation is now financing research in the fields of arthritis and birth defects, as well as continuing its work in the treatment and rehabilitation of polio patients."

"We hope to top our figure of last year, which was $13,619. Our goal for the Mothers' March this year is $15,000."

"We expect to cover every home in Newton, and for this purpose we have about 1,000 volunteer workers lined up and ready to go."

"The March is Sunday, Jan. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. Each village of Newton is headed by at least one captain. They can always use more volunteers, so if anyone can spare an hour or so from today through Sunday, please contact the captain."

White Is '59 Chamber President; Weeks Warns of Red Trade War

Smiling, friendly gestures on the part of Soviet dignitaries visiting our shores should not deceive us concerning the implacable purpose and trend of the Russian trade offensive, was the warning sounded Tuesday night by former Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks as the principal speaker at the first annual Achievement Dinner of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

An overflow crowd of more than 500 people heard the former Newton mayor solemnly advise his listeners of the dedicated purpose of the Russians to communize the free world. Monetary stability, balanced budget and military strength are vital to our security, the former member of the Eisenhower cabinet told his audience at the Commonwealth Country Club.

At a meeting prior to the dinner, Richard J. White was elected president of the Chamber to succeed Dwight Colburn.

Retiring president Colburn presided and gave a brief resume of the Chamber's achievements during the past year for which Mayor H. Whitmore, Jr., congratulated the Chamber membership. Rabb Albert I. Gordon, of Temple Emanuel, gave the invocation.

President Oliver T. Bergstrom brought the greetings of the Area Advisory Council of Chambers of Commerce. Rev. Ray A. Eusden, D.D., of the Eliot Congregational Church, gave the blessing. The benediction was given by Father W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., of Boston College. Murray Sholkin introduced the guest of honor, Sinclair Weeks.

Seek 48,000 Feet of Land Next to Spaulding School

A proposal that 48,000 square feet of land adjacent to the Spaulding School be taken by the city, was made by school officials to the Board of Aldermen during a hearing at City Hall Monday night.

The additional land, according to plans outlined to the city fathers, would be used for the school's physical education program.

At their weekly session the Aldermen authorized a $220,000 bond to finance the construction of a seven-room addition to the Spaulding School.

The land which school officials desire to take is on Brookline street, opposite Oak Hill street in the Oak Hill district.

Former School Committee Chairman Henry W. Keyes, who spoke at the hearing on the suggested land-taking, expressed the hope that a minimum amount of damage would be caused to trees when the land is developed.

Keyes represented Edith M. Haskell of 311 Brookline street at the hearing.

School officials estimated that the pupil enrollment at the Spaulding School will increase from the present figure of 404 to about 520 within a few years.

Residents in the Oak Hill sector during another hearing were divided as to the advisability of installing a sewer on Burdean road.

Six persons, headed by Mrs. Keyes, were present.

Stubborn Auto Fire Gives NFD Battle for Hour

A midnight fire in an automobile on the westbound lane of the Worcester turnpike at Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, gave firefighters a longer fight than many a blaze they encounter in the course of a month. It required an hour to put the fire under control. The car was owned by John O. Radcliff, Framingham. When it was at last extinguished it was towed from the scene.

Newton Woman's Alertness Leads To Gunman's Arrest

A guarded telephone conversation between two women paved the way for the capture of a gunman who was terrorizing a 24-year-old housewife and mother in her Newton Upper Falls home Monday afternoon.

The events preceding the arrest of John J. Aukstolis, 23, of Boston's West End, as he stood in the kitchen of the home of Mrs. Richard C. Anderson at 256 Elliot st., counting $102 he had taken from her, had all the drama of a movie thriller.

Aukstolis allegedly pushed his way into Mrs. Anderson's apartment at gunpoint, forced her to give him the money she had been keeping in a jewelry box and was in the apartment for almost one-half hour.

At one point Aukstolis reportedly remarked to Mrs. Anderson, "I don't know what I'm going to do about you when I leave here."

A 17-months-old son of Mrs. Anderson sat on a chair in the living room of her home while the robber roamed through the dwelling.

The woman's sister-in-law, Mrs. William A. Anderson of 254 Elliot street, had observed Aukstolis enter the apartment and had become suspicious when she didn't see him leave. She telephoned her sister and asked just the right questions.

"Is there a man there?" she queried.

"Yes," the reply.

"Did he take anything?"

"Yes."

"Has he got a gun?"

"Yes."

Aukstolis was unaware of the significance of the conversation Mrs. Anderson was having, although he was standing near her at the time.

The other Mrs. Anderson

20,000 Weekend Skaters As Winter Breaks All Records

This is the skating-est winter in Newton's history. Let the old-timers recall the winter their grandpops tell about the year Boston Harbor froze over. Let the head of the family groan every time a new oil bill finds its way into the mail box.

There's ample evidence at hand to prove that a lot of Newtonites are enjoying Winter 1958-59.

Two big factors have brought that situation about: (1.) Mother Nature has cooperated just about 100 percent; (2.) the Newton Recreation Department came up with all the necessary ice-maneuvring equipment needed to give the city just about the best skating surfaces you'll find this side of the Provinces.

Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson reports that all previous records of his department for public skating have been smashed to smithereens.

Take the period from Dec. 1 to Jan. 15, as an example. The Recreation Department announces that within that period there were 35 officially-OK'd skating days. The nearest approach to that since the department has been keeping records was the season of 1958-59, when the total was only 28 days.

Commissioner Johnson is no meteorologist. He makes no

3 Breaks In Homes Under Police Probe

Newton police are investigating burglaries in three homes by thieves who forced an entrance at the rear of dwellings while the occupants were away.

One was a late afternoon robbery Saturday at the home of Julius J. Jacobs, of 56 Marcellus drive, Newton Centre. The rear kitchen door had been forced. Jacobs told police he opened his front door about 5:30 p.m. and heard a thief run out the back door.

The home of Edward Lotz, at 165 Bigelow road, West Newton, was entered Saturday by breaking glass near the lock of the kitchen door. But

Block Oak Hill Zoning Change

Request of a podiatrist for a zoning law change which would permit him to establish an office in a residential zone was rejected by the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals.

The petition had been brought by Dr. Earl L. Cherniack, 394 Broadway, South Boston. He requested a hardship variance in the zoning laws to conduct a podiatrist's office at 90 Hartmann road, Oak Hill.

The board also rejected three petitions which would permit petitioners to build new dwellings on variance grants and permitted one petitioner to purchase land from a neighbor for the construction of a dwelling.

The latter request was made by Wilfred C. Holsberg, 11 Lorraine circle, Waban. He will be allowed to purchase 995 feet

Many Events Feature "YMCA Week" In City

A varied program of city-wide events, now underway, is impressively marking the observance of "Y.M.C.A. Week" in Newton this week to Jan. 25.

Wilbur W. Bullen, chairman of the public relations committee of the Newton "Y" points out that the local celebration is held jointly with the observance nationally and is the fifth annual in which the local "Y" has participated.

A week-long schedule of events was launched last Sunday when 24 churches in Newton and surrounding communities held special services.

Special church folders were distributed to the churches calling attention to two "milestones" of unusual significance, namely the 75th anniversary of YMCA camping and the 100th anniversary of YMCA work with college students.

Chairman Bullen stresses the many special events being held all this week at the Newton "Y" open to the public. Mr. Bullen stated yesterday that this is a good opportunity to visit the "Y" when basketball games are scheduled every night, volleyball tonight and

Newton At The Crossroads Land Use Can Offset Tax Impact

(Printed below is the second of several articles to be prepared by the Newton Taxpayers' Association on various aspects of Newton's economy with special reference to taxation and its relation to land and building use in the city.)

Local property taxes which citizens are "clipped" are like a pair of shears. One blade represents the tax levy, the other blade represents the valuation of the various properties. Together these blades cut out the size of the property tax bills, and the larger the blades, the larger the bill. The direct connection between the tax levy and the value of the property to which the levy is applied is known as the tax rate.

The size of the tax levy blade is determined by all the city's expenses less all income other than from the property tax. One of the expense elements is the amount of money the city must spend for the services of other governments—modified in turn by payments to the city from other governments.

Here is what has been happening to regular items on the expense side of this class: (we are leaving out M.D.C. water charges which are paid through the water bills.)

	Thousands of Dollars
County Tax	438 456 637
T. B. Hospital	89 138 118

Sewerage	131 165 338
Metropolitan
Transit	15 73 97
State Audit & Smoke Insp.	7 14 18

Looking ahead, these costs, except for the hospital, will undoubtedly rise. There will be no cut back in county costs. Sewerage charges will increase not only generally but also because of new popula-

Watch Dog Is On The Alert

A watch dog in the Victory Market at 232 California street, Newton proved to be better than a burglar alarm the other night.

The glass near the lock on a rear door was smashed, but the thief apparently was scared away by the barking of a dog kept in the store by Oscar LaRose, the proprietor. The robber fled.

But George's Tire Shop at 562 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, was entered by someone who forced the rear door. Stolen were two tires and two batteries and $9.50 in change, according to the owner, George Katsf.

Formal Shop Now Opened

Sid's Formal Wear, of Quincy, has added another store to its growing chain, at 44 Langley road, Newton Centre.

Sid's will be the only store in Newton Centre specializing exclusively in Men's and Boys' formal wear.

The firm prides itself on years of friendly and dependable service. It points to a growth over the past 30 years from its original shop in Hyde Park to branches all over New England. The main office is now located on Granite Ave., in Quincy.

Sid's is the only formal wear establishment in New England to maintain its own dry cleaning plant. All rented garments are cleaned, pressed and fitted to the customer.

The new shop, just as the others, will be staffed by experts to advise patrons on the proper dress for formal affairs. The Newton store promises special service for high school, college and fraternity dances.

tion in the district with accompanying extensions.

As for the MTA, charges to Newton will go up rapidly after 1959 as the citizens use the Highland Branch and because Newton will also be charged for out of town riders who board the new line in Newton. Moreover any revision of the present formula for assessing the MTA deficit can be expected to bear more heavily on this city since up to now it has enjoyed a very favorable position. Local property thus will carry a new charge having little relation to the added value of the new service.

What could Newton do to reduce these costs? Little if anything, for these charges are determined by forces largely outside the city's control.

Land use, however, could offset the tax impact. New property investment should result from the MTA service and the city has relative freedom to act in the land use field. By a careful policy the city can encourage good capital investment uses to help Newton's economic position while at the same time applying restraints and offsets to potentially unfavorable land and financial developments.

To Attend Swiss Camp

Newton Hi Senior Chosen For Top Girl Scout Honor

About the most excited girl in Newton this week, and for months to come, is pretty Betty Andersen, a senior at Newton High School.

Betty is one of four Girl Scouts from the United States to win the award of a free summer encampment in Switzerland.

She will represent New England at the Juliette Low Session at Our Chalet, International Center of the Girl Scouts, Abelloden, Switzerland.

Miss Andersen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Andersen, of 40 Lenox street, West Newton. She has two brothers, Kenneth in the 9th grade at Warren High and David, in the 8th grade, and a sister, Joanie, who attends the Peirce School in Newton.

"I only learned last week that I was selected from New England," the Newton High senior explained.

"It's a very great honor—really an international Girl Scout ambassador."

"All I know is that the trip will cover the period from June 20 to August 20."

"I expect to learn the details soon, such as manner of transportation and so on."

Betty, who will be 18 on Feb. 18, was chosen for "demonstrating superior skill and exceptional interest in Scouting," as well as excellent personal qualities," according to the Newton Girl Scout Council, Inc.

This summer, as a symbol of American Girl Scouting, she will meet Girl Guides and Scouts from Austria, France, Haiti, Lebanon, Canada and Luxembourg.

Betty has been associated with an International Friendship Troop in Newton. She has held various offices in the Scouts, and has had a great

Hunnewell Club To Offer Comedy

The play is in production under the direction of Miss M. Isabelle Conway, and participating in the cast are: Leonard H. Abbot, Phyllis Wheeler, Jane Marston, Glenn Grant, Ann Leahy, Sam Spiess, Lou Callas and Herbert Fraser.

The production staff includes, business manager, Milton W. Heath, Jr.; house manager, Mrs. Philip Hamilton; properties, Mrs. Frank Kirmayer; Mrs. Henry Jones and Mrs. L. Tillman McDaniel; lighting, Ted Morrill; stage set, Ernest Morenson; makeup, Mrs. William Conklin; stage construction, Mason Stone, Jr. and Kenneth Gleason; publicity, Mrs. Kenneth Gleason, Mrs. J. L. Masow, Mrs. Robert Fowler and Mrs. George St. Clair; and tickets, Jack Wulff.

She has been just as active in school affairs, having held offices in the National Honor Society, Girls' Athletic Board, Newton High School Legislature and the Chemistry Club.

In the difficult elimination process for this award, she received special commendation for her facility in French.

While the stay at Our Chalet will be for three weeks, the girls from the U.S. will stop at Camp Edith Macy before and after the trip abroad. They will have time to travel and visit European Girl Guides at their homes.

Major expenses will be paid by the Juliet Low World Friendship Fund.

Breaks Record-

claim to Old Farmer Almanac talents for long distance weather forecasts.

However, it so happens that in a season tailor-made to warm the cockles of an ice-skater's heart, the Recreation Department was never so well prepared to take full advantage of Mother Nature's co-operation.

At this point in the season there are more skaters per square neighborhood block in Newton than any other spot in New England. That's because the Recreation Department met Winter 1958-'59 with more skating areas available than ever before. Some of the additions were made possible by placing more natural surfaces under the aegis of the Recreation Department. Besides that there was the construction of three new hockey rinks.

In all there are 14 public skating areas available to Newtonites.

Do they appreciate it? Up to and including Jan. 15, Commissioner Johnson's department had listed 125,000 men, women and children enjoying the facilities. A typical weekend list runs between 15,000 and 20,000.

The natural skating surfaces are at Bulloughs, Wares Cove, Crystal Lake, Edwards Park; blacktop multiple use areas set up for skating are at Stearns, Lincoln-Elliott, Memorial, Davis, Peirce, Horace Mann, Williams and Hamilton Schools; playground facilities are at the Burr, Franklin, Newton Centre, Angler, Highlands and Upper Falls Playgrounds.

The big crowd turnouts include many first year skaters as well as those who fancy themselves as Dick Buttons and Tenley Albright.

The tremendous enthusiasm, however, wouldn't be possible unless the skating surfaces were attractive enough to make the skaters want to return as often as possible.

The Recreation Department has provided that incentive. "Nature's help," observes Commissioner Johnson, "we always welcome and need, but I do think that our maintenance crew, working during abnormal conditions of low temperatures, should receive a special commendation."

Their efforts to provide excellent skating surfaces have been most exemplary and unselfish. It has called for work during the regular hours and during the hours when the

Visiting Nurses Hear Speaker, Annual Reports

The regular monthly board meeting of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association was held recently at headquarters where the speaker of the day was Mrs. Catherine Holden, B.A., M.A., director of the Family Service Bureau of Newton.

Mrs. Holden began her talk with a brief history of the Bureau, which was started 70 years ago with all volunteer workers. Its purpose was "to elevate the poor and unfortunate of Newton," and was then called the Associated Charities of Newton.

In 1915 the name of the organization was changed to the Newton Welfare Bureau and the first paid executive, Margaret Rich, was hired. Miss Rich later became nationally and internationally known. In 1938 it became the Family Service Bureau, with an entirely professional staff.

Nurses and social workers, Mrs. Holden pointed out, have much in common. The former take care of people who are sick; while the latter help people who are in trouble. She concluded her talk by saying that the Family Service Bureau does not wish to solve their clients' problems for them, or even to give advice, but rather to help them understand and cope with their own difficulties.

Reports of various Visiting Nurse activities were given by the following:

Mrs. Frank L. Springer, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Southwick, assistant treasurer; Walter Tebbetts, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph C. MacDonald, Nursing Committee; Dr. Leslie H. Macmillan, medical advisory board; Mrs. Elmer K. Pillsbury, comfort fund; Mrs. Roy C. Hoskins, publicity and Miss Bernice Joyall, executive director.

St. John's Show February 6 and 7

"The Varieties of 1959," sponsored by the Church Service League of St. John's Church (Episcopal), Newtonville, will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 6 and 7, at the parish house, Lowell avenue and Otis street, Newtonville.

Chairman George H. Ferrer of the ways and means committee, will direct and produce the show which will be composed of medleys, musical numbers and dance specialties. The cast will include members of the church's adult and youth groups.

Assisting Mr. Ferrer are Assistant Chairman Kenneth L. Banner, Ralph F. Fay, tickets; Mrs. Miller Ferguson and Mrs. Riley Hampton, sponsors; Mrs. T. Arnold Joyce, candy, and Mrs. George L. Hicks, publicity.

Surfaces were not in use, evenings, Saturdays and Sundays. There has been the continual need for floating, spraying, planing, scraping, sweeping, the filling of cracks and everything else needed to make certain of a good skating surface.

"Our modern equipment could be called 'ice automation' in its truest sense and our methods have served to help other communities improve their areas."

"Our leadership personnel are directly concerned with the enforcement of safety rules so that all participants concerned with the enforcement of safety rules can better enjoy this most healthy outdoor exercise and aid in materially reducing accidents. "Our flooded multiple-use areas in school yards have been most successful this season and I do invite school children to use them during their school recess periods."

Girl Scout Council Annual Dinner-Meeting January 29

Newton Girl Scout Council will hold its annual meeting and dinner on Thursday, January 29, at the Eliot Church Fellowship Hall in Newton Corner. The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. and the program and speaker will follow at 7:45 p.m.

The speaker will be Miss Mary Doyle, regional Girl Scout committee member, a member of the Board of Education and a supervising teacher in Boston, and a staff member at Camp Edith Macy. Her subject will be "The Adolescent Girl Study and its Program Implications for Girl Scouting."

Mrs. Dwight Merrill is the chairman of the meeting. Miss Adelaide Ball is in charge of the program, tickets are in the hands of Mrs. Bernard Roth, Mrs. John Schweiger and Mrs. Richard Roche; publicity will be handled by Mrs. Joseph Kaufman and Mrs. Donald Lee; Mrs. Herbert Shaw has charge of table decorations and hostesses; Mrs. John Snider of waitresses, and the dinner committee is comprised of Mrs. Thomas Gephart, chairman, Mrs. Mrs. Thomas Hayden, Mrs. Carl Hartbower and Mrs. Arthur Barnes.

Table decorations are to be made by girls in troops #90 and #37, under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Rolfs and Mrs. C. Evan Johnson.

Following dinner, the theme song, "What the Girls Are Doing," will be depicted through a series of short informal talks by the girls, telling of remembered experiences in scouting. Adults will also participate and this part of the program is under the direction of Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian.

A short business meeting conducted by the outgoing president, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, will be followed by the installation of new officers and the presentation of awards, to round out a full and enjoyable evening.

Drop Newton Legislators From 2 Major Committees

Two Newton members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives have been dropped from important legislative committees by Speaker John F. Thompson, apparently so they will not be in a position to battle portions of Governor Furolo's program.

Representative George E. Rawson, one of the State's foremost authorities on election laws, has been tossed off the committee on election laws which would consider any proposed Gerrymander bill to revise the legislative districts of the Commonwealth.

Rawson was named to the committee on public safety and the committee on harbors and public lands, even though his specialty is election statutes.

Representative Arthur G. Heaney, who last year was recorded against the sales tax bill, was replaced on the legisdisclose that in 1958, a 43 per cent increase in paralytic polio occurred in the U. S. over 1957.

They attributed the increase to the fact that only half as much Salk vaccine was shipped for domestic use in 1958 as the year before.

"Nearly four years after the Salk vaccine was officially declared a safe and effective preventative against polio paralysis," they said, "we have seen tragic breakthroughs of disease. The worst was in Detroit during the summer and fall of 1958, with lesser epidemics in Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey and Hawaii.

Blanket Saves Man In Gas Station Fires

Howard Hathaway, proprietor of a gasoline service station at 1256 Washington street, West Newton, was saved from extensive burns of the entire body, when his coveralls caught on fire while he was servicing a car.

Quick-thinking by Donald Raymond, 23, 41 Wedgewood road, West Newton, a customer, and Robert Roulston, 34, 77 Huron avenue, Cambridge, an attendant, prevented the entire uniform from enveloping Hathaway in flames.

They grabbed a blanket and wrapped it around the victim to smother the fire. The fire had started in the lubricatorium of the station and was caused by a spark from an extension light which ignited fumes in the tank of the automobile. It spread through the lubricatorium and the office before it was halted by firefighters. The car, owned by Garland Patterson, 96 Lenox street, West Newton, was also damaged.

Marching Mothers

It takes an endeavor such as the current polio fund-raising drive to make a casual onlooker realize how many fine, warm-hearted people there are who will extend a helping hand to those who know the pain and sorrow of crippling ills.

That readiness to help shines like a beacon light in the ranks of the Marching Mothers who will leave the warmth and comfort of their own homes and go from house to house asking for donations.

They seek nothing for themselves except the inner satisfaction that comes with the knowledge of having done something for someone less fortunate.

When they ring your doorbell, remember that they are asking donations in the name of persons who have been or may be stricken by a dread disease, that they are seeking contributions to further medical research of consequence to all of us and to aid the rehabilitation of those who already may have been struck down.

And despite the development of the Salk vaccine, there is still great mercy work to be done by the National Foundation for which the present drive is being conducted.

The donation you make will be put to good use, and you should have it ready for the Marching Mother who calls at your home. But, in addition to the contribution you give her, let her know, too, that you appreciate the work she is doing, the time she is giving, the effort she is expending. She more than deserves any words of praise and commendation you voice to her.

Helping in a great way, too, to make this drive the success it should be are the local merchants sponsoring the advertisement which appears on another page in this newspaper.

They are not advertising or promoting the sale of their own wares. They are endeavoring to promote and aid a most worthy cause, and they merit the thanks of all of us for the assistance they so cheerfully provide.

In an undertaking such as this there are many people who give freely of themselves so that the crippled may be cured, so that the bed-ridden may walk again, so that long and painstaking research may produce new medical wonders.

We also should do our part. We should dig down cheerfully and willingly for that contribution when the marching mother calls.

Sales Tax Platform Plank Now Embarrasses Democrats

Present indications on Beacon Hill are that a majority of the Democratic legislators will vote for Governor Furcolo's limited 3 percent sales tax bill, as they did in 1957.

One thing that points up strikingly is that the adoption of a party platform at a political convention comes pretty close to being a total waste of time.

A platform commands little attention at the time it is being considered and practically none after it is approved.

A plank inserted in the platform adopted by the Democratic State Convention last June reaffirmed the opposition of the Democratic party to a sales tax.

The action was just as silly then as it appears now because the very delegates voting for the renomination of Governor Furcolo and for the platform knew that if Furcolo were reelected he probably would renew his fight for a limited sales tax to get some of the money needed to finance the operation of the State government.

A strange aspect to the situation at the time was that a majority of the delegates to the convention might have stood with Furcolo on the sales tax issue if they had been permitted to vote on the matter.

But party leaders were anxious to avoid any floor fight over the sales tax. The disposition of the delegates was to push the platform through and get it out of the way so they could go on to more important business.

Few delegates at the time had any real idea what was in the platform except for the general expression of opposition to the sales tax.

As a result a situation now is created in which a Democratic Governor and most of the Democratic leaders in the Legislature are preparing to launch a fight for a sales tax to which the Democratic party is on record as opposed.

Opponents to the sales tax are certain to seize on that plank in the Democratic platform as an argument against the Governor's bill, and a small number of Democratic legislators will use it as an excuse for voting against Furcolo's proposal.

It is a situation which could have been avoided if the persons who drafted the platform had been a little more realistic in their thinking.

Observers at the State House, incidentally, are wondering whether the leadership in the Democratic State Committee will rally behind Governor Furcolo in his coming sales tax fight.

While Furcolo is generally considered to have a better chance of getting the sales tax than he did in 1957, there is no question but that he will need all the help he can get and that he might wind up by making a stronger showing than two years ago but still lose.

It is difficult to see how the official Democratic organization can remain apart from a battle in which a Democratic Governor will be the central figure.

Dating Back Withholding Tax Poses Troublesome Problems

Cries of anguish from wage-earners will be heard from Boston to North Adams, if, as is generally expected, the State Legislature approves Governor Furcolo's recommendation that the State withholding tax be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

One of the troublesome problems which will confront members of the legislative committee on taxation will be to devise some method for deducting the State income withholding taxes for the period which will have elapsed before the law becomes effective.

Feb. 1 is about the earliest date by which the withholding measure can complete its journey through the legislative mills and reach Governor Furcolo's desk. It is quite possible that it might be the middle or latter part of February before the withholding bill finally is enacted into law.

Assuming that the new law goes into effect Feb. 1, how does the State collect the back income taxes for the month of January?

The simplest solution would be deduct all the taxes in a lump sum from the first pay envelope a worker receives after the law becomes effective.

An obvious drawback to such a procedure is that many persons would offer angry objection to having five weeks of taxes withheld from one week's wages.

It's true that in most instances the State income tax deductions will be small. The smaller they are, however, the more modest will be the salary of the person involved, and the less able will he be to withstand the subtraction of taxes for a five-week period.

Republican legislators are planning to capitalize on the situation by urging a forgiveness clause so that the taxes would be deducted from the time the law goes into effect and would be wiped out for the period from Jan. 1.

A good many Democrats will be faced with a difficult dilemma when they are confronted with that amendment.

Even if a procedure is worked out whereby two weeks' taxes are deducted from each week's pay until an employee catches up with his obligations, they're going to get plenty of complaints from irate constituents.

Furcolo Is Breaking Down Opposition to Sales Tax

Governor Furcolo has made remarkable progress in a period of a little more than a week toward breaking down opposition to his limited sales tax bill.

One development in the Governor's favor was the general reaction to the program suggested by ADA leaders as a substitute for a sales tax.

Many persons who are cold to the idea of a sales tax found the ADA alternative even more objectionable.

The strategic way to battle the sales tax, of course, is to follow a strictly negative approach and direct

Oak Hill PTA Plans Fund-Raising Dance

The Oak Hill School PTA fund-raising barn dance will take place Saturday night, February 7, at the Meadowbrook Junior High School. There will be music by Gene Dennis, dance contests, a dance caller, door prizes, and a well known vocalist.

The committee includes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keizer, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaitz, and Dr. and Mrs. Selig Zase.

strenuous opposition to it without suggesting anything else to take its place.

In fairness to the ADA spokesman, it should be pointed out that they didn't employ those tactics. They opposed the sales tax, as they have a perfect right to do, but they didn't then duck the real issue, as so many politicians do. They advanced a positive program of their own which they felt would be preferable to a sales tax.

That is the intelligent, straightforward way in which to argue and thresh out this issue. Even those who disagree with the ADA should respect its position and the attitude it has taken.

However, the ADA may have done more good than harm to Governor Furcolo's sales tax campaign. It has pointed out the fact that if we don't have a sales tax we will get some other additional taxes—if the money is to be raised which Furcolo says is needed to balance the State budget.

No comprehensive poll on the matter has been taken, but a majority of the persons queried by this writer, while making no secret of the fact that they were unenthusiastic about a sales tax, indicated that they preferred it to the alternatives proposed by the ADA.

State Department Is Blasted By Former Saltonstall Aide

A recent speech in New Bedford by John Fisher, former administrative assistant and top political aide to U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall, caused a clicking of political eyebrows which must have had echoes as far as Washington.

Fisher, who certainly would be regarded as friendly to the Eisenhower administration on the basis of his association with Senator Saltonstall and his service in the latter's office, in commenting on his observations during a trip to the Middle East was severe in his criticism of both the State Department and our foreign service in that part of the world.

He declared that the State Department is disliked and distrusted, that the foreign service personnel is considered "fearfully ill-equipped to deal with the people and problems among which they work."

Fisher said that our foreign service is inadequate to meet America's vital needs abroad and that the State Department almost automatically rejects every proposal to improve our foreign service.

In our embassies in a dozen major capitals abroad fewer than five or six Americans on embassy duty can speak the language of the country in which they serve, Fisher revealed.

He cited facts and figures to support his allegation and asserted that in New Delhi, capital of India, no one can speak the Indian dialects required for effective communication there.

Fisher described the situation as "a political blunder of the first magnitude." He indicted the government's failure to make use of able, well-informed businessmen in foreign nations and said that "our diplomats abroad seldom, if ever, consult them."

"This is a foolish and dangerous blindness for which we may one day pay a frightful price," Fisher told his listeners.

That indictment, keep in mind, came—not from any Democrat—but from a man who has close ties with a leading Republican Senator.

If even part of what Fisher says is true—and there is no reason to challenge anything he said—John Foster Dulles should resign, and if he doesn't resign President Eisenhower should fire him.

It is little wonder that Russia is making such gains in foreign countries and that American prestige continues to wane.

Tiger Icemen Newton Student Finally Win; Gets Award At Belmont Next Pennsylvania U.

Now that they know how it feels to be on the winning side of a hockey score, even though the winning was accomplished over winless Rindge Tech, Newton's icemen are looking for garrison finish in the GBI.

The boys aren't settling for anything less than a complete reversal of fortunes. They halted their six-game losing streak against a luckless Rindge sextet which hasn't collected a single victory all season.

Next Saturday they meet Belmont which on any given afternoon can present plenty of opposition to any team in the GBI.

The Tigers have five games left on the schedule including the Belmont engagement. That's a setup which may enable them to balance off those six straight losses.

It won't win them the GBI crown but it could help them to remember the season 1958-59 with a little more kindness than is presently the case.

Regular goalie Jack Kelley, son of "Snooks" Kelley, Boston College hockey coach, was back in the nets ready for full-time duty and his presence seemed to add to the Newton skaters' confidence in the Rindge game.

Bob Neilson was Newton's scoring ace, coming up with two goals as the Newtonites set back Rindge, 4-1.

Throughout the game Newton peppered Rindge goalie Bob White. Bob came up with 28 saves, 15 of them in the second period when Newton was really hot. Five of the second period saves were made during a period of about 10 seconds.

The summary: NEWTON — G. Kelley; Id. Neilson; rd. Reilly; c. Sahlin; lw. Lancaster; rw. Peters. Spares — Vachon, Herman, Thompson, Keenan, McManus, Downing, Ellis, Karle. RINDGE — G. White; Id. Manuke; rd. Wilband; c. Kendall; lw. McGarry; rw. Cushing. Spares — Englehart, Chebator, Swadel, O'Connor, Dahl, Beaudoin, Braun, McGinnes, Piche.

Score by periods: Newton 2 1 1-4 Rindge 0 0 1-1 FIRST — Thompson, 1:27; Lancaster (Sahlin), 2:41. SECOND — Neilson (Peters, Sahlin, Peters), 3:21; Kendall (McGarry, Piche), 9:20.

Dunham Pontiac Now a Motor Boat Dealer

Back in 1946 Earl T. Dunham, owner of the Dunham Pontiac Co. at 268 Chestnut street, Needham, started a small outboard boat and motor business more or less as a side line hobby. He had always been an ardent fisherman and boat enthusiast.

The amazing expansion of all boat and marine business during the past 10 years has resulted in an increase of the Dunham Pontiac Marine Department to the point where it has become one of the largest and best known marine operations in New England.

With this steady growth has come a constant demand for more space each year to display and service boats and other allied products.

With this branch of the business demanding more space it was finally decided to liquidate the automobile department and convert the company's present property into the most attractive and modern showrooms for the display of Lyman, Chris-Craft, Sailfish, Cape Cod Sailboats, Johnson Motors and marine supplies in the Boston area.

Mr. Dunham announces that an open house and family boat show is being planned for March after alterations and redecorating of the showrooms have been completed.

Detroit — An average motorist in the U. S. pays about 66 cents in combined federal and state taxes each time he orders 10 gallons of gasoline for his car.

Important in the planning of communities, businesses and homes alike these days is the Grounds Equipment Co., 383 Boylston St., specialists in snow removal equipment.

"We will send an expert to survey any job," says Anthony J. Sperandio, proprietor, "and determine the needs of a client before attempting to sell equipment. We specialize in snow equipment, and have snow blowers, power brushes and blade plows in all sizes for both home and industrial use. And we're pleased to confer with customers and decide on just which type and size of equipment is needed."

Prices for this vital equipment start at $180 and range up. Featured is the famed Gravelly Tractor line, in which the tractor with its powerful 6.6 horsepower motor is the basic unit for 34 attachments which can be used the year around, including the snow

Three other outstanding makes are the Bros Sno Thrower, with two and 3.8 horsepower motors; the Snow Bird Snow Blower, with a 2 1/2 horsepower unit, and the Reo Snowthrower with a 3 horsepower motor.

All this snow equipment is well known throughout the wide area served by Grounds Equipment Co., and is equipment which becomes priceless in time of need, since it enables the owner to clear away even heavy drifts with practically no exertion, thus avoiding heart strain and dangerous fatigue. ### Beatrice Breitzke

Mrs. Beatrice Breitzke, wife of Gustav R. Breitzke, 88 Oxford road, Newton Centre, died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

She was a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and chairman of the Mt. Holyoke reunion fund of her class. She was president of the Newton Centre Garden Club and was active in affairs of Trinity Church.

She was also active in Girl Scout work, the Newton Centre Woman's Club and the Newton Centre Neighborhood Club.

Mrs. Breitzke leaves her husband, two daughters, Susan, a junior at Mt. Holyoke, and Mrs. Richard Spence of Clinton, N.Y., and a sister, Mrs. Allyn Beardsell of Bernardsville, N.Y.

Funeral services were held at Trinity Church with the Rev. Howard Dunbar, rector, and the Rev. Lewis Williams, son of Arlington, officiating.

Julia Lovinger

Mrs. Julia (Wolf) Lovinger, mother of Merrill R. Lovinger, young lawyer slain by three bandits in a Newton home invasion four years ago, died at her home, 5 Edgebrook road, West Roxbury.

Funeral services were held at Levine Chapel, Harvard street, Brookline, with Rabbi Zev Nelson and Cantor Simon Kandler officiating.

Mrs. Lovinger's health had been poor since the tragedy on Feb. 4, 1955, when her son was shot down at the Newton home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mintz, parents of his bride of five months.

The petite mother appeared before a legislative committee at the State House two years after the death of her son. She carried before the committee a dramatic plea for the retention of capital punishment.

"My soul has been murdered with my son," she told committee members. "My body just keeps going on. I conceived a child in love. And what have I left? His picture. His watch. His tie pin."

Lovinger was 26. A naval veteran of World War II, he had taken a bride, Fanna Mintz, and launched his legal career as a partner in a Boston law firm.

The bandits responsible for the murder had planned to enter a different house to stage a holdup. They had mistaken the Mintz house as the one against which they had laid their plans.

The trio fled the house and the neighborhood after the slaying but were captured within minutes in a splendid display of police work by Newton officers.

The trio, Henry F. Arsenault Jr., 28, Framingham, Russell LeBlanc, 24, and Arthur L. Devlin, 31, both of Waltham, were sentenced to die in the electric chair. At the recommendation of Governor Furcolo, the death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

They are now at Walpole State prison.

Mrs. Lovinger leaves a daughter, Mrs. Selma Mayer, West Roxbury; her husband, William, and her father, Simon Wolf of Van Nuys, California. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Anna Sheinkopf and Mrs. Rebecca Witt, both of Brookline, and three brothers, Joseph Wolf, Randolph; Edward R. Wolf, Winthrop, and Melvin Wolf, Van Nuys, Calif.

Rawson Favors Surcharge For Poor Drivers

Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton announced today he has filed a bill to authorize the Commissioner of Insurance to assess a surcharge on cars whose drivers are in the so-called "assigned risk" pool.

"These are the drivers which insurance companies have declined to take," Rawson said, "because of accident claim frequency or record of motor law violations."

"They are the worst drivers. Their record of accident claims is more than double that of Massachusetts drivers as a whole... We all are paying part of their cost in the premiums which we pay."

Rawson said he was convinced the high cost of motor vehicle insurance is due to the accident claims paid out by the companies "and especially to the court verdicts for damages which are too often excessive."

"SHOPPING AROUND WITH RITA"

My afghan is going to be beautiful... and I am having so much fun. I have completed one strip and have a good start on the second color, and just love the feathery pattern... I visited the Waban Gift and Yarn Shop yesterday, and here I am barely started on one project and I am thinking of the next... These handy packaged kits come in many items... like the gorgeous cardigan sweaters and the adorable new Lucky Puppet Mittens... Have you seen them?

The palm of the hand is bright red for the mouth, and the back of the hand looks like "Snuffy the Skunk" or "Dewey the Dragon" with a pom pom of hair and big button eyes... Cutest thing you've ever seen and they only take a couple of hours to knit... This is a wonderful shop with so many unusual items... Right now they are featuring lovely linen handkerchiefs (don't forget Valentines)... and the new weatherproof silk headscarfs...

Debby's Pet Shop is another store where I love to stop and browse around... There is always something different and interesting... Of course all the "poodles" in Newton's Who's Who in Canine Society have been in shopping for their winter accessories... White rubber boots with bright red bows have been very popular with the female... and every self respecting Newton dog is wearing a warm woolen coat these days... Of course Debby's have everything a fashion conscious dog would want... no wonder everyone loves them...

The B. S. Edwards Store in West Newton is next on our shopping trip... This is always a delightful visit at this friendly store... (the store that has just about everything)... They feature Hallmark Cards, Valentines and Party Goods... Toys and games (have a puzzle ready for the next rainy afternoon)... and in the kitchenwear department see the tremendous stock of beautiful glasses from the delicate stemware to the handsome heavy based glasses... And over at the glamorous new store... Edwards of Auburndale the feature of the week is the Famous Brand Mops at ridiculous prices... You will love everything about this exciting new store!

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Have you ever noticed how people you know very well, people in your own family, for example, who you see every day, can change over a long period of time without your even noticing the change? Then someone who hasn't seen the family for months or years will come alone and notice the change immediately... because he hasn't been exposed to the gradual, imperceptible alterations.

Well, the same thing can happen to your TV picture. Over a long period of weeks and months it can gradually change without your being aware of it. The picture can grow dimmer day by day, getting more washed out and generally faded. Because you're looking at it every day, the chances are a long time... until one day you won't notice the difference for you're looking at a friend's set and it suddenly hits you how much more contrast and brightness his picture has than yours.

This gradual dimming of the picture may be the sign of a tube that's nearing the end of its best days. Your serviceman will quickly be able to tell you the cause. Phone or come in today... restore the vitality to your TV picture. The quality of the TV service you get depends on the training and honesty of the man who does it and the integrity of the firm he represents. Come in and let us show you how this idea guides our business.

Also come in and see our new electric organs including a small portable organ for as little as $129.95; or call BI 4-7240 for a home demonstration.

Woman's Club Hears Polish Experiences

The story of "Five Years in a Polish Cellar" was told to the Jan. 14 meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club by Hermann Field, American-born, Harvard-educated architect.

He maintained that the human mind and spirit of an intelligent man is capable of thinking, inventing and doing under adverse conditions, and thus keep from going insane.

Mrs. Lucy A. Turner, chairman of the literature and international affairs committee, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Edwin C. Harkins, president, conducted the business meeting, welcomed guests and presented Mrs. Frederick W. Rapp who gave the invocation.

Mrs. Joseph B. Rockett, chairman of the music and club chorus, accompanied at the piano. Flowers for the auditorium were presented by Mrs. Allard M. Valentine. Mrs. James Cardell and Mrs. Charles P. Hullin poured tea. A Polish, Slamese, Dutch and Swiss display on loan was contributed by Mrs. Yolanta Milan-Kamski and Miss Lucy Turner.

The mid-winter meeting was held Tuesday at the Williams School Auditorium in Auburndale. Dr. Ralph C. M. Flynt, International Chairman of the Atlantic Treaty Association, spoke on "Neighbor in a World Community." The tea hostess was Mrs. Charles A. Higgins Jr.

The Gardens and Conservation Committee, Mrs. Peter Janis, chairman, met at the club lounge yesterday to see a film showing gardens of Iceland, Scotland and Brussels. Hostess was Mrs. R. Woods and pouring tea was Mrs. Timothy G. McCarthy.

Tiger Five in Overtime Win Over Waltham

Two basketball teams: with only so-so seasonal records put on an old-fashioned, Newton-Waltham contest when they met on the floor of Shapiro Athletic Centre. The result was a down-to-the-wire battle which saw the Tigers emerging triumphant with a winning score coming in the last 25 seconds of overtime play.

The score was 53-51. It was one of the best games of the season.

Len Bernheimer, who looks too small to be a basketball star sent a jump shot through the strings for the goal which sent the Tigers and their supporters home happy.

It looked as though Newton had the game all sewed up in regulation time. Waltham was trailing 47-43 with only 2½ minutes left on the clock. Then Ken Kezer got a hot hand and sank four straight free throws.

Kezer remained hot during the opening of the overtime but Newton finally tied it up at 51-all to set the stage for Bernheimer's exploit.

DeNucci Ready For Second Shot At Chico Vejar

Word around Boston's fistic gymnasias is that Newton's Joe DeNucci, suddenly side-tracked last November in his quest for middleweight glory and cash, is about ready to return to the ring wars again.

Along Boston's Friend street, they figure Joe will be ready to toe dance into the ring early next month. They also figure Joe's vis-a-vis that night will be an old trial horse named Chico Vejar, who now calls Stamford, Conn., home.

It was Chico who sent Joe's speeding express off the rails last November. The veteran, a former N.Y.U. student, opened a big gas near one of the DeNucci optics and after the referee and doctor took a good look, the fight was halted.

DeNucci was listed as a six-round technical kayo victim. The loss was the first black mark on the Newton boy's record which had been extended to 16 straight when they booked Chico for him.

DeNucci would be a good bet for Rip Valenti to make his newest how as a promoter soon. It was Rip who brought DeNucci along to the point where he was considered a worthwhile drawing card.

Now Rip plans to go it alone as a promoter without direct affiliations with Johnny Buckley's Sharkey A.A. or Sammy Silverman's Callahan A.C.

In dismantling his own stable of boxers he has turned DeNucci over to the management of Bobby Agrippino.

DeNucci had a chance to get back into action early in January before an audience at Providence. He turned it down, however, preferring to take no chances with the cut inflicted by Chico.

Now the cut has healed perfectly and Joe's ready to go to work again.

Homestead Seeks Historical Items for Safe Preservation

If you have articles of historical import in Newton; if you have documents; books; photographs of persons or buildings or old-time Newton scenes; maps, newspaper clippings and the like — you can have them placed in loving, tender care.

Currently, the Jackson Homestead's Historical Research Committee (Historical Society of Newton), is conducting a drive for such items.

There's a suspicion that over the last half century or so many articles which offer precious relics of Newton's past have been destroyed, either because no appreciation of their historical value was inspired or because folks did not know where to send them so they would be preserved.

Except for a brief period about half a century ago, Newton has had no historical society until recently.

Chairman F. C. Alexander, 87 Fair Oaks avenue, Newtonville, of the Homestead's committee, learned that recently an attic-full of Revolutionary War records were cleaned out and thrown away.

During the last year the Homestead has received many photographs and other items relating to Newton's past. Many more would be appreciated.

Last spring among other activities, the Historical Research Committee initiated a successful inquiry into the origin of the names of schools in Newton. The committee is assembling and recording data for its archives, a list with photographs, of the historical markers in the city.

With the cooperation of the Newton Camera Club it is hoped to photograph in black and white most of the historical houses and spots in Newton.

Any person having material along the lines suggested is invited to call the Jackson Homestead, J. W. Newton or Mr. Alexander.

Irene Thresher Withdrew From Secretary Race

Representative Irene K. Thresher of Newton withdrew as a candidate for Secretary of State before the balloting was held Tuesday to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Edward J. Cronin.

While Mrs. Thresher could not have won the office because of the present Democratic numerical superiority in the Legislature, she probably would have been the front-runner on the first ballot.

She originally was persuaded to enter the contest to give the Republicans a rallying point but subsequently decided to withdraw from it. Her retirement from the race made possible the election of ex-Representative Joseph W. Ward of Fitchburg on the first ballot.

School Dept. Travel Allowance Cut By Aldermen

The Newton Board of Aldermen slashed $1100 from the $3500 requested by the School Committee for out-of-state travel to California by three members to attend a conference.

Reappointment of Frank B. Maher, of 34 Bonar road, West Newton, as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library for five years, was approved.

Call Issued To Mason School 1901 Students

A call has been issued to any persons who were students at the Mason School in Newton Centre in 1901, the year the school was built, to participate in dedication ceremonies of the new Mason School, scheduled to open on the Newton Centre playground next September.

Members of that class are urged to communicate with Mrs. James R. Cobb of 21 Hancock Ave., Newton Centre, BI 4-8019. Mrs. Cobb is preparing an anecdotal history of the Mason School for a dedication booklet. A Mason school graduate herself, and president of the first student safety council at the school, Mrs. Cobb is a past president of the Mason-Rice P.T.A.

Ernest F. Dietz, current Mason-Rice P.T.A. president, called a meeting this week of a temporary dedication committee at the home of Mrs. Abbott Spear, P.T.A. vice-president.

Gunman Is Held In $15,000 Bail

John K. Aukstolis, Deer Island parolee, who was captured at gunpoint in a Newton Upper Falls home after terrorizing a young mother and her 17-month-old son for nearly a half hour, was held in $15,000 bail on charges of armed robbery and burglary following his arraignment Tuesday in Newton District court.

immediately telephoned Newton police headquarters which, in turn, swiftly contacted Detective Captain William J. Burke who was in the Upper Falls section investigating a robbery.

When Burke burst into the Anderson home, Aukstolis was standing in the kitchen counting the money he had forced Mrs. Anderson to hand over to him and momentarily had placed his revolver in his back pocket.

Burke arrested him at gunpoint and took a loaded .32 calibre revolver from Aukstolis.

Newton police reported that Aukstolis admitted he had committed two breaks which Burke was investigating at the time he received the call to rush to the Anderson home.

They said he confessed to breaking into the home of Mrs. Helen Hurd at 254 Elliot street, where a clock radio and $39 were stolen last Friday, and into the home of Mrs. Mattie Hemphill at 1195 Boylston street, where on Sunday night he allegedly stole the revolver he brandished at Mrs. Anderson.

Peabody Home's Holidays Were Brightened By Scores of Gifts

In 1894, Mrs. Harriet M. Peabody, a former superintendent of a children's infirmary, became interested in the case of a little crippled boy whose feet had been frozen. She tried to find a home in which he could be cared for but nowhere, except in the almshouse at Tewksbury, could she find a place for him.

This incident led to the founding of the New England Peabody Home which, after a long and useful career, is now located on Oak Hill in Newton Centre.

Mrs. Peabody was not the first person to be affected by the terrible plight of a crippled child, but she was certainly one of the first in this area to do anything about it.

On June 2, 1895, the Home was formally opened in Weston and in 1900 it was moved to Hyde Park, where it remained for over 20 years. In 1922, through the generosity of Charles F. Wright of Boston, the present building was completed. The site was originally the private estate of the late Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, professor of surgery at Harvard University.

Under the leadership of Dr. Robert W. Lovett, the then internationally known orthopedic surgeon and the Home's first chief-of-staff, the program of curative surgery was inaugurated.

This program was ably carried on by Dr. Robert Soutter, Dr. Nathaniel Allison, Dr. Frank R. Ober, who served as chief of staff for 18 years, and now by Dr. Joseph S. Barr. During these years the Home has become nationally known and has served as a model for similar institutions.

The fact that others besides the staff of the Peabody Home are interested in the children there was evidenced by a large number of Christmas Parties held for the youngsters. Among the firms and organizations who went out of their way to make the crippled children's holidays a brighter one were:

Jordan Marsh Co.; Newton Savings Bank, which presented a television set to the Home; Dana Hall students who brought gifts and entertained with carols; the Farnbank Club of Boston (of the First National Bank); Steve Hopkins Sports Party, with stars of baseball and other sports as guests; and the Newton Lodge of Elks, which brought gifts not only to the children but for staff members as well.

Other holiday activities included: A gift of a television set by the Newell Club, which also gave clothes and candy; annual donations by the Charles River Country Club, the Woodland Country Club and the Brae Burn Country Club; gifts of toys and pennies by the American Legion Posts; and Raytheon Manufacturing Company's annual party, which included gifts for the children.

Members of the Mothers Rest and Junior Mothers Rest Clubs, the churches of Newton and Chestnut Hill and boys and girls of the Scout troops all gave donations; the Kiwanis Club of Newton makes sure that each child at the home is remembered on his or her birthday throughout the year; and the Green Shoe Manufacturing Company gave new shoes for each child.

The William Carter Company of Needham is one of the Home's most generous contributors, and the Newton Police Memorial Association brought gifts and much needed cash to the Home. One of the highlights of the Christmas season was the concert presented at the home by the Boys' Choir from St. John's Episcopal Church of Newtonville.

Donations were made by Stop & Shop, the Belmont Women of Rotary, the Rotary Ann Clubs, the South Brookline Garden Club, the Newton Centre Garden Club and the Women's Association of the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church.

It has been a long and difficult road for the Peabody Home for Crippled Children since first that compassionate woman was struck by the plight of a friendless crippled child. But the children at the Newton Centre sanctuary know one thing, now they will never lack for friends again.

New Citizen

Smith Retains Dash Crown; NHS Runnerup in BAA Meet

Larry Smith retained his dash crown with a sterling, record-tying performance; Gary Snerson placed first and Dick Abrams won a third-place medal in the shotput, but Newton High's track team was forced to cede its B.A.A. schoolboy title to Rindge Tech at the Boston Garden last Saturday.

The Tigers, lacking something of the all-around balance and glitter of last year's classy squad, were in the competition right down to the last event. In fact, if the relays were dropped from the program it would have been OK with the Newton boys.

Newton reached its relay test with 13 points Boston English and Rindge were tied at 12½ and Hope High of Providence, R. I. Rindge won the meet with a sterling relay performance while posting a meet record-breaking time of 2:23.8.

Malden nipped Newton at the tape in their relay with Smith, Flowers, Hession and Raymond posting a very respectable time of 2:28.5.

Larry Smith, shooting for a repeat win in the B.A.A. competition, faced an outstanding field of sprinters. An idea

Mrs. Monroe To Chairman Group For Heart Fund

Mrs. Vaughn Monroe, of 35 Pickwick Rd., West Newton, has accepted the club's and organization's chairmanship of the 1959 Heart Fund in Newton.

Her husband, former well-of the class he had to overcome to emerge with his crown intact, will be gained from the fact that in all three trials for the 50-yard dash each winner came up with a record-tying 5.6 second sprint.

In his own heat Larry had to take sharp Tony Magri of Belmont.

In the dash final Smith drew Loren Flagg of East Bridgewater, Lummer Jennings of Hope High, Providence; Barton Graham of Boston English and Melvin Toon of Roxbury Memorial High. A baby's blanket could have covered the field at the finish, but Smith was there first.

Gary Snerson won his shotput event with a heave of 50 feet, ¾-inch. Albert Santio of Hope High slipped into second, but Dick Abrams got Newton some badly needed points by placing third.

Centre Girl, 11, Tops With Baton

Jane Hopengarten, 11-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Hopengarten of 201 Cypress street, Newton Centre, won the New England Baton Twirling championship at Agawam.

Jane, a sixth grader at Bowen School, Newton Centre, had a big day all around at the meet. She won four top awards in solo and two baton routines and won the junior strutting and marching events.

She is present holder of the Massachusetts junior championship crown.

Announcement of Mrs. Monroe's appointment was made by Mrs. George L. White, of 36 Walnut park, general chairman of the month-long February fund-raising appeal.

New Orleans Symphony Here January 31st

Subscribers to Newton Community Concerts will be privileged to hear the first performance in Massachusetts of the famous New Orleans Symphony Orchestra when it appears in Newton High School on Saturday evening January 31, as the third presentation of the current season.

To conductor Alexander Hilsberg goes credit for building the New Orleans Symphony into one of the finest orchestras in the United States. Mr. Hilsberg's knack for interesting people has been well known for many years. He is the only musician who ever caused the great critic, Virgil Thompson, to miss a journalistic deadline by remaining until the end of the performance.

In Philadelphia he inaugurated a series of children's programs which have been widely imitated, but never in artistry, ingenuity and imagination, duplicated. (Who but "Uncle Alex," as he was affectionately dubbed by his youthful clientele, would think of putting a live cheetah beside the principle cellist?)

In New Orleans a similar series of children's concerts are held and he also broadcasts a weekly series of youth concerts over a state wide network, in addition to his regular symphony season and chamber music subscription series.

Members of the association who are unable to attend this event are urgently requested to allow musically inclined friend to use their membership cards, as it is not possible to obtain tickets at the door.

Change in Hours At Incinerator

Street Commissioner Frank K. Perkins today announced changes in the hours during which operators of private trucks and Newton residents may dump rubbish at the city incinerator.

Perkins said that truck operators and residents may unload rubbish at the incinerator from Monday through Friday during the following hours: from 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; from 10:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.; from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

He explained that other periods on those days will be reserved for city-owned trucks and that no one else will be allowed to dump at incinerator. Sheehan asserted that the gates of the Elliot street yard will be closed at 6 p.m. on weekdays and will not be opened from 6 p.m. Friday until 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Civic Gesture Recognized

Teacher Study Wins Award Of Excellence

An "Award of Excellence" has been given to the Teacher Utilization Study in Newton by the B. V. D. Community School Improvement program with the presentation taking place recently in the office of Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., at City Hall.

The award was given in recognition of outstanding citizens' efforts towards the betterment of the schools in this community.

Taking part in the presentation ceremony at City Hall were, Robert Segal and Edward Hickey, co-chairmen of the study; Haskell C. Freedman, chairman of the Newton School Committee, and Superintendent of Schools Eric N. Dennard.

As a result of this study, additional substitute teachers and secretaries were located and trained, volunteer workers were identified and have been used in the schools in various capacities.

Newton residents with special talents have been catalogued for reference purposes, and the teacher load at the high school has been re-evaluated.

The study was undertaken through the co-operative efforts of many community organizations including, the League of Women Voters, Parent-Teachers Association, Community Council, Taxpayers Association, Federation of Women's Clubs, Public Library, and the School Committee.

Purpose of the work is two-fold, first, to help direct Newton's efforts to recruit and maintain a well-qualified professional staff in the face of

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

Rawson Was Given Heave-Ho Because He Knows Too Much

Congressman Lawrence Curtis makes a convincing argument in citing the case of Representative George E. Rawson of Newton as evidence of the need for changing the present system of appointing legislative committees.

Rawson, a Republican, was dropped from the House Committee on Election Laws by a Democratic Speaker despite the fact that he is one of the State's foremost experts on the election laws.

No attempt has been made to justify the action of Speaker John F. Thompson in throwing Rawson off the committee. It was strictly a political move.

If there was any real explanation behind the maneuver, it was that Rawson knows too much about the election statutes, not that he doesn't know enough.

In fact, he knows so much that as a member of the election laws committee he might have been able to wage an effective fight against any gerrymander bill the Legislature endeavors to put through. So he was given the heave-ho from the committee.

The point Congressman Curtis makes is that the Republican leadership in the House has no voice whatever in the committee assignments made by a Democratic Speaker who is completely free to follow his own whims if he chooses to do so.

A big objection to that procedure is that it strikes at the very foundation of our two-party system of government. Some of our elected officials on Beacon Hill quite obviously would prefer a one-party government. They could go so far that the voters, who can and do exercise their own whims, might give them the heave-ho.

More Than 600 Enjoy "Open House" at "Y"

National YMCA Week in Newton, one of the most successful held here, moved to a fitting climax last Saturday when more than 600 members and friends of the "Y" enjoyed the annual "Open House" observance to conclude a week of interesting and informative activities.

Featured on the afternoon's program were the finals of the table tennis tournament; frogman demonstrations, handball and squash racquets matches; demonstrations and games in the boys' gym, a gymnastic team exhibition, and a hard-fought varsity basketball game.

The lobby was a center of interest for all visitors with special displays which included World Service, showing the YMCA as an international organization; interesting exhibits of boys' crafts and handwork by "Y" members; and a camping display which graphically illustrated the four summer camping programs of the Newton Association.

All visitors to the "Open House" were greeted by members of the board of directors and "Y" staff; refreshments were served by the women's auxiliary.

The gala closing of "Y" Week here terminated a week—

Heart Attacks Take Lives Of 2 Sisters In Minutes

Death came within minutes to two sisters as they entertained friends at 15 Maplewood avenue, Newton, the home of Mrs. Rose Glazer Taxer, 56, one of the victims.

"The mothers, and some teenagers, brought in quite a bit of money," Mrs. Kay said. "But the report on just how much was taken in is far from complete, so it would not even be fair to estimate how we compared to last year."

Last year the house-to-house drive netted $13,619. This year's goal was $15,000.

"There are two post-scripts I would like to add to this march," Mrs. Kay told the Newton Graphic.

"The first is that it is not too late to make a contribution, now or in the future. The need for money collected by the March of Dimes is not for use only one day in the week, but every day in the year."

"A City the size of Newton is difficult to cover, street by street and house by house, even though we did have a thousand volunteer marchers. Some homes were inadvertently omitted. Some people were not at home when their door bell was rung."

Curtis Hits Rawson Ouster From House Election Group

Congressman Laurence Curtis today sharply criticized the action of Speaker John F. Thompson of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in dropping Representative George E. Rawson of Newton from the House Committee on Election Laws.

Curtis cited the case of Rawson as emphasizing the need for changes in the method of appointing state legislative committees and for adopting the procedure followed in Congress.

The Congressman referred to the Rawson incident in his weekly newsletter to his constituents and proposed that the State Legislature adopt the congressional system of allowing the leadership in each political party to make committee assignments.

He declared that the opportunities for abuses under the procedure employed in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, where the Speaker makes all committee assignments, "are glaringly apparent." In support of his statements Curtis pointed to the Rawson case.

"Massachusetts has something to learn from Congress in the appointment of members of the House to standing committees," Curtis stated. "Recent events cry out for reform of the Massachusetts procedure."

"The difference," Curtis explained, "is that whereas in Congress the leadership of each party makes the decisions as to committee appointments for the members of that party, in Massachusetts

Ticket Demand Heavy For Community Concert Event

The sale of tickets for the appearance here on Saturday of the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra is unusually heavy according to a report from the Newton Community Concert Association, the organization sponsoring the concert to be held at the Newton High School auditorium.

This widespread interest is understandable in view of the fact that the symphony will make its first appearance in Massachusetts at this Newton concert. Interest in the orchestra has been increasing ever since 1955 when it made a tour under the auspices of the State Department, which had all the aspects of a triumphal procession. The tour lasted a month, during which 25 concerts were given in Latin America, including the islands of the Caribbean, —Puerto Rico, Santo Domingo, Jamaica—South America and Mexico.

The tour was reviewed in both the New York Times and in Time Magazine, and Alexander Hilsberg, the orchestra's conductor who is in no small way responsible for all this success, returned to New Orleans bearing certificates, diplomas, honorary degrees, and gold "keys to the city."

These are but two of the reasons for the unusual interest in the appearance of the New Orleans Symphony. Of special interest to Bostonians is the fact that Norman Carol, who is concert master under Mr. Hilsberg, was, at the age of 18, a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and is consequently a good friend of many Boston Symphony members.

Of particular interest to musicians is Mr. Hilsberg himself, who, during his career has achieved fame in three distinct fields of endeavor. He was a child prodigy, and as a concert violinist made recital tours for seven years. After coming to this country he distinguished himself as concert master of the Philadelphia Orchestra under both Stokowski and Ormandy. Since 1951 he has become the only concert master on record to become the permanent conductor of a major symphony orchestra.

Newton Surgeon Fined In Rte. 128 Hit-Run Death

A Newton surgeon, Dr. Francis H. Earthrowl, Jr., 36, of 935 Beacon street, was given a suspended jail term and fined $1,000 in Middlesex Superior Court Tuesday after he pleaded guilty to charges stemming from a fatal highway crash.

The surgeon pleaded guilty on the fourth day of his jury trial on a manslaughter charge in the death of Mrs. Dorothea Davies, 23, of Wellesley. He also pleaded guilty to two counts of operating under the influence of liquor, one count of leaving the scene after property damage and driving to endanger.

Superior Court Judge Horace T. Cahill also placed Dr.

Earthrowl on probation for five years. Witnesses at the trial testified the doctor drove the wrong way on Rte. 128 for 12 miles on the night of June 12. Two collisions resulted. One was with the car in which Mrs. Davies was killed, which was driven by her husband, George E. Davies, 26. The other was a car driven by Albert D. Carter, 19, of Needham.

Dr. Earthrowl, father of four, is a Tufts Medical School graduate, and served with distinction in both the Army and Navy medical corps. He admitted while testifying that he had had something to drink while attending an outing of the medical profession at the Wellesley Country Club.

Rawson Charges Brazen Tactics Employed On Withholding Bill

Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton charged this week that "the most brazenly outrageous and vicious legislative tactics I have ever seen in 16 years on Beacon Hill were employed by the Democratic House leadership last Wednesday to 'steam-roller' the Governor's withholding tax bill through the House of Representatives."

"It is time the taxpayers realized how some of their representatives treat their interests," Rawson added.

"In the first place," the Newton legislator declared, "the bill was not printed on the House calendar for that day as is the usual custom. Most House members had not seen the bill prior to its being read in. There were not sufficient copies of the bill available for every member to have his copy."

"A 'second legislative day' was then voted, requiring only a majority vote, to allow it to be acted upon. In the debate which followed, some members known to be opposed to the bill were denied the opportunity to speak because the acting speaker would not recognize them."

"Rep. Giles, the minority leader," Rawson continued, "moved postponement of the bill until April 6th in order that a study of the budget might show whether additional taxes were necessary. The motion lost 88 to 129 on a straight party vote."

"The Governor's message introducing the bill was so worded that we could not attach any substantive amendments to it. Rep. Giles moved suspension of Rule 90 so that the House could amend it."

"This motion failed to pass because it fell short of the required two-thirds vote in its favor. The Ways and Means member carrying the bill made such a mess of explaining it that it was clear that he did not know much about it."

"Rep. Giles made a motion to kill the bill, but his motion lost on a roll call vote, 86-138." Rep. Rawson continued: "The leadership then obtained a majority vote for a 'third legislative day' so that the bill could take its final read-

Weeping Railroads

Friday, February 6, will be a day of some importance for a lot of Newton folks.

It may well go a long way toward deciding whether or not there shall be imposed a definite, radically different way of living upon a considerable number of them.

Starting at 10 a.m. on that day in Room 166 at the State House, the State Public Utilities Commission will begin public hearings into some proposals made by the New York Central Railroad. The N.Y.C. has asked the Commission for its okay on the railroad's plan to put shutters on the Newton Corner rail station and throw the key away and also to tear up the scheduling of 10 trains which now operate between Riverside and Boston.

The railroad says its subsidiary, the Boston & Albany, is losing money on the operation. It argues that it can't go on forever pouring red ink out of its corporate blood vessels and shouldn't be expected to do so.

On the other hand, those who will represent the commuters will oppose any favorable action by the Commission on the proposal. They will question that the road is losing money and will point to those days and nights when you can't have a seat on the commuter-rush trains. They will point out very clearly to the Commission that the proposed abandonments will work hardships on a lot of people.

The unknown quantity in the situation—for the moment, at least, is the Public Utilities Commission.

The Commission is a quasi-judicial body. It has a lot of power. In the past, particularly in the recent past, it has acted with a considerable show of sympathy for the plight of the commuter, but its decisions when finally reached have very often been on the side of the transportation agencies.

Railroad and bus lines in many cases haven't been getting all they asked for in the way of fare hikes but hikes have still been forthcoming with the blessing of the Commission.

Now, it appears that many of the transportation agencies—for example, the current proposals of the New York Central in the Riverside case and the more sweeping requests of the B. & M.—realize they are on the verge of pricing themselves out of the field.

They seem to sense that fare hikes aren't the answer. Now they want to drop the task of transporting people to and from work, unless the operations show a nice profit.

They would simply slice off and throw away the bruised part of the peach and keep only that part of the fruit which remains unbruised.

The Public Utilities Commission knows it has a couple of powerful kibitzers looking over its shoulder when it takes up the growing number of petitions arising out of the crisis of public transportation.

The public will tend to applaud every argument which underscores both the peccadilloes and mortal sins of the railroads. And the railroads are guilty of many, in both categories! As men who hold office by virtue of political appointment the Commissioners are sensitive to public criticism.

More important, however, in the over-the-shoulder kibitzer ranks, are the courts. The Commission knows that its major decisions can and have been made the subjects of court reviews. It knows that its decisions can and have been "tipped over" on appeals to the courts.

It is to be earnestly hoped, however, that the cause of the Riverside commuters is given the most complete exposition possible in those hearings at the State House.

We believe the service can and should be retained. We believe the railroad is, in a large measure, to blame for some of the conditions which now it claims to be untenable.

We believe it was too quick to surrender to competing transportation factors by steadily downgrading its services. Instead of offering cold and dirty cars, it might have prevented the loss of much patronage by proving "We can get you there cleaner, faster, safer."

In another day the railroads moved mountains to gain franchises they now seek too condemn. When they enjoyed nearly 100 percent monopolies on transport they harvested the profits and took time out only now and then to announce the public could be damned.

Whenever they found passenger service wasn't keeping pace with the returns their freight operations produced, they sought to make passenger service a stepchild. They answered passenger complaints of poor service with even poorer service. Pretty soon they succeeded in forcing large numbers of the stepchildren into finding new means of transport.

Now, they come weeping before the public and before such bodies as the Public Utilities Commission pleading for a chance to throw the bruised part of the peach away. If the peach is bruised, they did most of the bruising themselves.

It's significant they are perfectly willing to retain the more succulent part. At the same time there's evidence that through mis-management and a continued disregard of the need for courting the public in a highly competitive world, the railroads will kill off their freight business as well.

As a general proposition they could well go back to their franchise-seeking days and start courting the public again.

A good starting point would be the Riverside run. We have an idea a lot of enterprising people could make that run pay.

Political Highlights

Ward Quickly Labelled Gubernatorial Prospect

Former Representative Joseph D. Ward had not finished receiving congratulations on his victory in the fight for election as Secretary of State when political observers on Beacon Hill began labelling him as a potential candidate for Governor in 1960.

Ward undoubtedly is privately looking beyond the office he now holds and contemplating the possibility of bidding for higher honors, but whether he will be ready to strike upward in less than two years is something only time will determine.

One thing which made Ward's election as the new Secretary of State a little more dramatic was that he twice experienced the bitterness of defeat and disappointment in his endeavors to achieve State-wide office before feeling the satisfying thrill and glow of emerging a winner.

In 1956 he won a three-way battle for the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention for Attorney General but then was defeated by Edward J. McCormack, Jr., in the September primary.

Last year he again entered the Democratic pre-primary conclave as a contender for Attorney General but lost the endorsement to McCormack.

Two things caused Ward to gain added respect and prestige even in defeat.

One was that he took his losses in manful fashion and went back onto the political firing line to campaign for the Democratic candidate who had bested him.

The second was that Ward, although he was defeated in the 1956 primary after being endorsed at the convention, abided by the edict of the 1958 convention when he was a loser and did not carry his fight into the primary.

Ward would be a potent contender for almost any State-wide office. He has a pleasing personality, is a two-listed campaigner and an excellent speaker.

One of the more colorful speeches of last fall's gubernatorial campaign was made by Ward when he was appearing on television for Governor Furcolo.

Charles Gibbons had just finished talking, and Ward followed immediately after him on the same television channel.

Although Gibbons' speech actually had been taped in advance and the Republican standard-bearer was somewhere else in the State at the time, Ward discarded his own prepared address and put on an extremely convincing act of calling Gibbons back into the studio to hear his reply.

Ward's performance was so realistic that many watchers gained the impression that Gibbons was walking out the door as Ward was starting to talk.

Now that Ward is established as the Secretary of State for the next two years, the question arises as to what office State Treasurer John F. Kennedy will seek in 1960.

An impression exists at the State House that Kennedy, who cannot run for a fourth term as Treasurer, will be a candidate next year either for Governor, Lieutenant Governor or Secretary of State.

Unless Ward sets his sights on some other office in 1960, Kennedy will encounter stern opposition wherever he turns, for Ward should be pretty solidly entrenched by the time another year comes around, and he is one who knows how to build his political fences.

Those legislators seeking the passage of a law which would make the action of a State convention final would eliminate the September primary for candidates for State-wide office presumably have Kennedy in mind. He has never done well at conventions. In fact, he shunned the '58 conclave.

The present opinion among Democratic politicians is that their party's nominee for Governor in 1960 will be either Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge or Congressman Torbert H. MacDonald of Malden.

O'Neill, because of his contacts as a Congressman, as a former Speaker of the Massachusetts House and a legislator, and as Governor Furcolo's campaign manager last fall, would be a tremendously strong candidate at a convention. As yet, however, he hasn't indicated any intention of running.

If O'Neill is a candidate, Ward would probably turn his attention elsewhere. If O'Neill and MacDonald both should decide to remain in Congress, Ward might well be projected to the forefront as a very prominent contender for the Governorship.

Ward's election as Secretary of State very definitely placed a new face high in the Democratic picture.

Withholding Bill Moved In Steamroller Fashion

It would be necessary to delve far back into political history to find any instance where a proposed new law of great importance was steamrollered along the legislative tracks with as much speed as was the withholding income tax bill in the House.

The big Democratic majority in the House of Representatives enabled Governor Furcolo's agents to adopt a stronger and firmer attitude with balky Democratic legislators than would have been possible in other years.

That made it possible for Democratic leaders to invoke a more effective brand of party discipline than ever before witnessed on Beacon Hill.

A few reluctant or on-the-fence Democratic legislators in effect were told to fall in line and follow orders or face the prospect of finding themselves out in the cold when the time comes for dispensing patronage.

The result was that less than a small handful of House Democrats finally voted against the bill, notwithstanding the qualms and doubts many members must have felt about the measure.

Such a procedure is possible only when one party has so big a working majority that its leaders don't have to worry about two or three members who may stray from the reservation.

The speed with which the

Favor Apts. For Aged Sponsored By Church Here

Church-sponsored housing for elderly citizens is favored by the United Church Women of Newton. More than 250 members unanimously favored the proposal at the annual meeting held at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

The meeting authorized church leaders to sponsor one or more such housing projects for this city. The action was taken after Mrs. Amelia Potter-Johnson of Hartford, Conn., told of a $160,000 project in that city which was sponsored by the Congregational church.

The smallest unit rents for $50, and ranges up to $87.50. The units have kitchens, baths and are all on the ground floor. Each apartment has a bell which rings next door in case the elderly occupant needs aid.

Withholding tax was whipped through the House was remarkable when it is realized that it represents a revolutionary change in the method of collecting State income taxes and that it will take a bite of some size out of the weekly pay envelopes of countless thousands of persons across the Commonwealth.

Eventual public reaction to the withholding bill probably will depend on whether it does what its advocates say it will do, namely to snare large numbers of tax-evaders who presently are allegedly avoiding the payment of their rightful income taxes to the Commonwealth.

If the State's income tax collections are improved and increased by bringing in those who are dodging their lawful obligations, the law will be justified in the eyes of persons who have been paying their taxes on the line.

But if events in the months ahead show that the expense of processing the withholding returns is not warranted by a greatly increased flow of revenue into the State treasury—if this proves to be merely an expensive one-year gimmick for meeting a financial crisis—then a widespread public disapproval is almost inevitable.

It could well be that some prominent public figures are risking their political futures on whether the figures a year from now show the withholding system to be a success or a failure.

That is a question which will be answered before the voters go to the polls for another State election. Figures on income tax collections and on the added expense created should reveal quite clearly who was right and who was wrong in the withholding tax dispute.

Where You Save DOES Make a Difference

SAVE NOW: FLY HIGH LATER

Gee, how I hanker for the good old days when people had character enough to "save up" for something they wanted. Now, many of us go into debt for things we want and add extra high interest costs. We just can't wait!

Only one thing in my opinion is worth going into debt for, and that's a home.

It takes character, I know, but why not save in advance and wait for a lot of the things you wanted? As you save, you'll earn good dividends at Watertown Federal. Remember, you pay interest on what you owe; you EARN DIVIDENDS on what you save.

Clergyman And Family To Take World Tour To Japan

An Auburndale clergyman, his wife, and three young children, will leave tomorrow (Friday) on a "round-the-world" trip "home" to Japan.

Rev. and Mrs. Alden Matthews, of Auburndale, have been in this country for nine months on a furlough from their overseas missionary activities in the Orient.

The young clergyman and his personable wife are both career missionaries; with their three daughters they will return to Tsurukawa, Japan, after a world tour and visit to Protestant theological seminaries and training centers for rural church leaders in England, Italy, Greece, Lebanon, India, the Philippines and Hong Kong.

Rev. Matthews is vice president of the National Christian Rural Service and Training Center, a school for rural evangelists. He was born in Chicago but spent most of his boyhood in North China with his parents, both missionaries. His wife, the former Dorothy Lovell, teaches English at the National Christian Rural Center. Their daughters, Cynthia, 12; Jacky, 10; and Ellen, 4, are already world travelers despite their age.

Equipment will be furnished free of charge for the course; this includes the famed Dacor regulator, mask, snorkel, swim fins, and weight belt. Applicants must demonstrate swimming ability in order to qualify.

John Bell and Dell Hunter will be the instructors; the course will be supervised by Willis Lafavour and Paul Hennessey of Seacraft Industries. Further information may be obtained at the Newton YMCA, BI 4-6050.

Library Shows Smith Effects

A timely and interesting collection of mementos of Dr. Samuel Smith, the author of "America," are on display at the Main branch of the Newton Library.

The display points up the current drive to raise funds to acquire and to preserve the Smith house at 1181 Centre St., which has fallen into a sad state. Claude E. Simmonds of 129 Grasmere St., announces that March 9 is the deadline in which the property may be acquired.

"All people interested in the heritage of this land will be interested in seeing this fine display at the Library," Mr. Simmonds said. "And, all interested persons should immediately contribute whatever money they feel that they are able to do; even school children's coins are welcome."

An invitation also is extended to all to visit the Jackson Homestead to view the collection of items displayed during the month of February which marks the 150th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln as well as the 100th anniversary of Longfellow's famous poem "Children's Hour." On display are some 60 items from the Lincoln collection and some interesting items of the poet.

sets the Speaker has arbitrary power to fill committee posts both for members of his own party and also for members of the opposition. "The opportunities for abuses under the Massachusetts system are glaringly apparent," Curtis continued. "A Speaker could refuse to appoint key members of the opposing party to the committees in which they would be most effective. He could prejudice the opposing party in many subtle ways. Fortunately, there has been little of this, but the opportunity—or the temptation—should be removed."

"Representative George E. Rawson, Republican of Newton, a district which I am privileged to represent in

Chorus Group At Rehearsal On Wednesday

Members of the Community Chorus resumed rehearsals at the home of Mrs. John O. Fisher last Wednesday evening, according to the announcement from Mrs. Norbert Fullington, president. Mrs. John O. Fisher, of West Newton, is the regular accompanist for the group.

Mrs. Shirley Grodberg, and her committee, served refreshments during the social hour which followed the rehearsals. The membership of the chorus comprises a city-wide segment of Newton, with Mrs. Ingeborg Jarratt the director. Starting February 4th, regular rehearsals will be held each Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at Newton Junior College, corner of Washington Park and Walnut street, Newtonville.

Membership is open to any interested person with no auditions required. New members may apply to Mrs. Gordon R. Miller, chairman of membership, at BI 4-2424, or Mrs. Horace J. McDonnell, publicity chairman, at DE 2-0258.

Washington, has served on the Committee on Election Laws of the Massachusetts House Representatives for the past 16 years, during six of which he was chairman," Curtis went on. "This year he again requested reappointment, but the Speaker, a Democrat, shunted him off to another committee."

"Mr. Rawson had become a recognized expert on election laws," Curtis pointed out. "His knowledge, experience and interest in the subject were undoubtedly of great value to his party. By the same token it was probably somewhat of a thorn in the side of the opposition party."

"His expulsion from his committee post also violated another congressional practice. Members of Congress, who have already been appointed to and served on a committee, remain on that committee unless they are defeated, or voluntarily seek a change," Curtis asserted. "At the start of a new Congress, the party leadership on each side fills only the seats on the various committees which have become open."

"In Congress on the Democratic side, the members of the Ways and Means Committee are appointed first and act as a Committee on Committees in making the Democratic appointments. On the Republican side the appointments are made by a Committee on Committees whose members are chosen at a Republican conference or caucus, one member being chosen from each state."

"The congressional procedure seems incomparably more fair and reasonable in every respect. The Rawson incident should spearhead a demand for reform," Congressman Curtis concluded.

Mandell's Inc., Suppliers Of Formal Attire For Men

One of its busiest seasons is in progress at Mandell's Inc., 311 Walnut Street in Newtonville, where dress suits of all types and full accessories are rented and sold.

Members of the Formal Wear Guild of Greater Boston, Mandell's has built up an enviable reputation for the fine quality and styling of its tuxedos, full dress and other items included in the best formal-wear.

The firm is especially popular with college men, and states that they are "busy men. How do we know? Because we outfit so many. They like our service."

Modern styling is featured in Mandell's garments, and in tuxedos the graceful lines of the shawl collar and smart, comfortable lightweight fabrics help make the wearing of College men, who have so many formal dances and other affairs to attend, have long since found that an evening in Mandell's smart wear is one to enhance their prestige and pleasure. The important accessories, from top to toe including shoes, all are available and Mandell's long experience enables its expert staff to offer correct suggestions on any item.

Mandell's, by the way, has other stores, but it concentrates the rental service at 311 Walnut Street, LA 7-6940, in order to give the most complete service possible. Hours are 9 to 6, and on Friday 9 to 9.

An invitation is extended to all League members, their friends, and other interested women to attend any of the eight meetings, which are scheduled as follows:

Chestnut Hill Motel Doubles Facilities

The Newton Building Dept. has issued a permit for construction of two additional buildings at the Charterhouse motor hotel at 160 Boylston St., Chestnut Hill. Total cost is $200,000.

Each of the two story buildings will contain 24 units, and one will contain a boiler to provide heat for both. They will be of fireproof construction. Two existing buildings were completed less than two years ago.

James H. Lewis, 38 Brookdale Road, Newtonville.

Following the unit discussion meetings, the Legislative Committee is planning an open meeting on Friday, February 13 at 9:30 a.m., entitled "What Next for Massachusetts? — A Legislative Forecast for 1959". At that time, Newton's state legislators, 4 representatives and one senator, will discuss the legislative outlook. This meeting will be open to the public.

"Best Soldier" Honors Won By Newton Youth

Pvt. First Class Richard R. Anderson, a 22-year-old native of Newton Lower Falls, has been named USA TRECOM's "Soldier of the Month," at Fort Eustis, Va.

Anderson was selected over three other outstanding soldiers, by a panel composed of officers and top NCO's of TRECOM's Hq. and Hq. Svc. Co. The panel chose Anderson for his many outstanding qualifications, neatness in appearance, excellent military bearing, excellent character, thorough knowledge of general military subjects, and chain of command and current events.

Colonel Vancel R. Beck, TRECOM Commander in an impressive ceremony presented Anderson with a letter of achievement, a three day pass and a $10.00 cash award. ### Jaycee-ettes Assist Salvation Army Camp

The Newton Jaycee-ettes met at the home of Mrs. Edward Gartland in Auburndale last week, and prepared bean bags, children's clothes, toys, books and records and play dough for the Salvation Army Day Camp on Fuddingstone lane.

Members donated three large cartons, plus a turkey for the annual Christmas Basket, enough to impress even the Welfare Department. Other Christmas activities were the shopping tour for children of which Mrs. Richard Sabean, was chairman.

A needy family was adopted for the season. The Jaycee-ettes gave $25 worth of presents, a tree, and a visit from Santa.

Mrs. Edward Gartland is chairman of a bake and sandwich sale which will be held Friday of next week at Grover Cronin's beginning at noon.

World Affairs School To Be Held at MIT on February 3rd

Mrs. Edward L. Richmond of West Newton, foreign policy chairman of the Newton League of Women Voters is taking registrations for the February 3 School of International Relations sponsored by the Massachusetts League. This year's school, the League's 37th, is being held at M.I.T.'s Kresge Auditorium from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. Richmond is also making arrangements to transport Newton people by special bus.

Another Newton woman, Mrs. Harold R. Isaacs of Waban is general chairman. Beginning at 10:30, the school will feature a full day's program on one of the most challenging problems of today and the foreseeable future: "Facing the New China—What Is Involved for the U.S.?"

The morning speakers will provide extensive background on the China of today. All of them know not only the new China, but the old and all have actually lived there. John K. Fairbanks, professor of history, East Asia Institute at Harvard will discuss "Aspects of China's History Significant Today." Harold R. Isaacs of the M.I.T. Center for International Studies and author of "Scratches on our Minds: American Images of China and India" will discuss "American Relations and Attitudes Toward China."

The third morning speaker will be LaRue R. Lutkins, Deputy Director of Chinese Affairs for the State Department, who will explain "U.S. Policy Toward China". This group of morning speakers will be joined by a Canadian, Blair Fraser, Ottawa Editor of MacLean's Magazine, who recently returned from China. Mr. Fraser will report on "An Estimate of China Today".

The afternoon session will be devoted to a discussion by Congressman Walter H. Judd, Republican of Minnesota, and newly-elected Senator Gale McGee, Democrat, of Wyoming of "What Is Involved for the U.S.?" Congressman Judd, son of missionary parents, spent much of his early life in China and has for many years been a staunch advocate of the pro-Nationalist point of view.

Senator McGee, a professor of history at the University of Wyoming who has served with the Council of Foreign Relations of New York City, has a broad and varied background in international work. Mrs. Richmond will be pleased to answer any questions about arrangements for attendance at the School of International Relations, and may be reached at LA 7-4322.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Shirley Temple was born April 23, 1928, in Santa Monica, Calif. At age three, her mother enrolled Shirley in a neighborhood dancing school where she attracted the attention of a movie talent scout. She was signed up at 10 a day for a series of two-reeler flickers starring only children. In November, 1932, sonarwriter Jay Gorney invited Shirley to audition for a song and dance number with James Dunn in "Stand Up and Cheer." Her melodic rias had started. In this, her first full length feature film, she followed Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, Sylvia Pious, John Boles and James Dunn in "Now and Forever." She was below Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in the fourth movie, "Baby Take a Bow." Shirley Temple was billed first, trailed by James Dunn, Claire Trevor and Ann Dinehart. In the fifth picture, the six-year-old sweetheart of millions had her name above the title — the pinnacle of success — as the theatre marauders proclaimed "Shirley Temple in 'Bright Eyes' With James Dunn." In 1940 she made the last of her 38 full-length movies. Now, she devotes most of her time to her husband, Charles Alden Black, and three children, works for several charity groups and is a licensed interior decorator. She was never spoiled by success. However, TV reception can be spoiled by continuing to use a weathered or obsolete antenna, or by faulty antenna installation. We make a specialty of correct antenna installation and carry in stock the best and latest types designed for this entire area. (Continued from Page 1)

Republican Party in city and state extends over a period of more than 30 years.

During that time he served as an Alderman from Newton's Ward 7, and also held many appointive offices in the state government.

Both Daniel E. McLean, chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Carleton P. Merrill, chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee, have expressed regret at the resignation of the local man.

Mr. Chagnon, in his letter of resignation, stated that he had given long and deep thought to the decision, but had acquiesced to the wishes of his physician that he relinquish many of his outside activities.

Chairman Merrill said today that a joint meeting of the seven Republican war committees will be held in mid-February to nominate a successor to be recommended to the state committee to fill the vacancy caused by the Chagnon resignation.

At the same time, an election will be held to fill the vacancy of first vice chairman of the GOP city committee created by the resignation of Mrs. George Elbaum.

Mrs. Elbaum, who held this position for many years, resigned due to the increasing demands of the vice chairmanship as well as the pressure of other activities. However, she will remain as a member of the Ward 5 GOP committee.

In making the two announcements of resignation of the two local Republican leaders, Chairman Merrill also announced that he would not be a candidate for the state committee's post as he wished to continue on with the Republican rebuilding program in Newton.

In making the presentation to Mr. DeRubis, Mr. Vitti stated that, "although the amount was still $100.00 short of the amount which the committee hoped to raise in order to replace the $600.00 which had been stolen from this family, the program of assistance could be called a success. To the local papers serving Newton, we are most grateful as without their cooperation, we never would have come close to raising the amount that we did. The public's given to the plight of this family by the local press, enabled the committee to let the citizens of Newton know of the work that was being done for this family."

Basil Nello was the high scorer of the contest, racking up 28 points in a losing cause for the Tigers, but it wasn't enough to change the tide of the game.

At The Crossroads Self Help Is City's Basic Need

(Printed below is the third of several articles to be prepared by the Newton Taxpayers' Association on various aspects of Newton's economy with special reference to taxation and its relation to land and building use in the city.)

Like Newton, while acting to offset payments from the city government to the state, are more and more part of a distribution system which naturally favors the less fortunate communities in Massachusetts. Here are some state distributions used in calculating New-

	Thousands of Dollars	1954	1958
Income Tax	586	580
Corporation Tax	707	628
Meals Tax		20	24
(for Old Age)
Old Age		385	440
(other than federal)

In addition the state reimburses Newton 20% of school construction costs (while poorer towns get up to 60%) and also pays the city about $100,000 for the Vocational School and other activities.

Now first, the city still has been getting from the state more than it pays out, but the difference generally favors the city only to about the equivalent of a dollar on the tax rate.

Second, city payments have been increasing more rapidly than distributions back, due to the distribution formulae favoring poorer towns. There is every reason to believe that this process will continue and no reason to believe the trend will be reversed.

Third, the corporation tax, where distribution formulae have not been changed, reflects not merely less profits for business recently but also and more importantly, the leveling off of post war corporation profit increases before the slump. Serious men, therefore, are concerned about the business climate in the state and its competitive position with other states.

So despite the possibility of larger state distributions from larger state income coming in turn from improving business or heavier individual taxes collected by the state, Newton cannot look to the state for any really fundamental help with respect to the city's financial status. On the contrary.

So that puts it up to the city itself.

Self help, by adopting policies which encourage putting both old and new lands to their highest and most valuable uses—both social and economic—is the most promising way, and about the only way, to maintain the city as a first class municipality.

Rev. Ray E. Eusden, D.D., will retire Sept. 1 as minister of the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton, after more than 33 years of service, it was announced this week.

Dr. Eusden, a native of Atlanta, Iowa, came to Newton on Feb. 14, 1926. He and Mrs. Eusden, the former Marie Dykstra, have three sons, Rev. John D. Eusden, Ph.D., Professor at Yale Univ., Ray A. Eusden Jr., of Brooks School, North Andover and David A. Eusden, a Boston attorney.

The resignation of Mrs. Richard Salinger, for three years director of religious education at the church, also was announced.

Speaker Warns Of Dangers Of Tuberculosis

Dr. Alice M. Broadhurst, senior physician for the Massachusetts department of public health, division of tuberculosis, was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Kimball.

Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, president of the local association, presided at the meeting. Dr. Broadhurst discussed the Mantoux test for tuberculosis and warned that the disease is still communicable and found everywhere, not just in slum districts.

The speaker charged as a "public health disgrace" the death rate from tuberculosis in the Boston area; in the city alone it led all United States cities for 1957. She warned that Newton residents must not only look to their own city but must consider the metropolitan area in which they are located.

"This is especially important since lately people have been on the move from the crowded tenements and slums into the 'bedroom' communities, bringing their diseases with them," said Dr. Broadhurst.

Water Needed

New York—About 65,000 gallons of water are required to produce one ton of finished steel, and about 5,000 gallons are needed to grow one bushel of corn.

Small Town To Suburb To What?

An Interview with Robert C. Wood, author of Suburbia: Its People and Their Politics

Has the time come for a closer union of suburb and city? Does a mysterious veil fall behind you as you board the train home after a day's work, which makes you oblivious to the problems the city nonetheless must face? "I've got my own problems at home," you may say to yourself. Yet, does a suburbanite have a debt to the great city which provides him with a house of his own and a plentiful table? You'll get the answers, pro and con, to these and many other important questions which concern virtually all of the 50 million tax payers in the suburbs today.
